'Bridey Murphy' Is Disturbing

Psychiatrists Give Reply To Tales From Hypnotists

Editor's Note: Can hypnosis carry a patient back to another life in another era? The question is in many minds, due largely to a book which has rocketed to the top of most best-sellers lists. What do psychiatrists and other researchers say? Here is the result of a survey of several outstanding figures in the field.

NEW YORK (AP)—A veteran news reporter in Olympia, Wash., was amazed several days ago by a state trooper's "dramatic experiments in hypnosis."

"I saw him purportedly take three different persons back to a period in time before they were born," the reporter said.

"All responded as other persons in a life previous to the one they are now living. They gave their names, described their homes, children. Some even described their deaths."

Across the nation, many other reporters have recently found similar experiments.

The answer seems to lie in an amateur hypnotist's book which suggests that one can be used to prove the other.

THE AUTHOR, Morey Bernstein, placed a Colorado housewife

under hypnosis and told her to go back in memory "until, oddly enough, you find yourself in some other scene, in some other place, in some other time."

The statement she subsequently made, says Bernstein, indicates that the woman lived in Ireland 200 years ago as Bridey Murphy. Published only a few weeks ago "The Search For Bridey Murphy" is now in its 8th printing and demand is far outstripping supply. The book has deeply disturbed clergymen and psychologists.

Clergymen object on the ground that conclusions are being drawn which contradict basic tenets of Christianity.

Psychologists, who often use the technique of taking patients back in time to study human behavior, object on two counts:

1. They maintain that no information has been gained in this manner which could possibly support reincarnation, the theory of an earlier life.

2. They say that actual mental or physical harm could be caused to subjects who lend themselves to experiments by amateur hypnotists.

"Hard scientific evidence says that hypnosis is an explosive thing to play with," says the American Psychological Assn., an organization of 15,000 psychologists and research psychiatrists.

"PSYCHOLOGICAL research on the subject has not yet told us enough about it so that it can be used except with great care."

Seeking to check the scientific background for taking a subject back in time, the Associated Press queried five outstanding authorities who have engaged in research in hypnosis. They were unanimous and emphatic in denying that such experiments could shed new light on reincarnation.

On these mechanics they were in agreement:

When a subject under hypnosis is told to go back and relive his past (scientists call it regression) he will comply to the best of his ability, drawing on all the resources at his command. These resources may include the memory of past experiences, knowledge he has gained from other sources and fabrication.

"It is important to note that there are two kinds of regression," said Dr. Louis R. Wolberg, director of the post graduate center of psychiatry and associate professor of clinical psychiatry at New York Medical Center.

"One is true regression, in which a good subject is able to relive parts of his natural existence which he can no longer consciously recall. The other, by far the most common, form is nothing more than hypnotic role playing."

Anniversary Observance Planned

Legion Commander Is To Speak Here

When the Paul H. Hughey Post of the American Legion holds its big anniversary banquet here next Monday to mark the 37th birthday of the Legion, state commander Phio Lustig of Cleveland will be the speaker.

The banquet will be the post's gift to its members, according to William Stoughton, district vice commander of the Legion.

Also invited to the anniversary banquet are the commanders and members of the 33 other posts in this, the state's seventh, district. The banquet will be at 7 P. M. next Monday in the newly-rededicated Legion Hall.

In addition to giving members a chance to celebrate the 37th birthday of their organization, Stoughton said, the banquet will give everyone a chance to see the decorating job a committee of members is completing now.

The banquet marks the 37th anniversary of the mass meeting of veterans held in Paris, France shortly after World War I. Outgrowth of that meeting was the American Legion organization.

At least 150 members are expected to turn out for the banquet, Legion leaders said. There will be no charge to any of the 385 men here who have paid their 1956 dues, it was explained.

The meal will be prepared and served by the women who belong to the Legion Auxiliary Post here.

Democrats Seeking Small Contributions

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Democratic National Committee has announced plans to use spot television announcements to spark a nationwide drive for small contributions to the party's coffers.

A pilot run of the plan will be made starting today over Station WHIO-TV in Dayton, Ohio, and WHO-TV in Des Moines, Iowa.

An announcer will stand beside two thermometers, one showing the Republicans with a $5 million fund and the other showing the Democrats just over $75,000. As the drive progresses the thermometers will show the "Democratic progress" in catching up with the Republicans.

Ohio Cigarette Consumption Up

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohioans paid out $1,539,496.08 in cigarette taxes during the month of February, the state department of taxation reported today.

This marked an increase of more than $128,000 in cigarette taxes compared with February 1955.

The department said total tax collections for the first eight months of the fiscal year 1955-56 amounted to $32,609,189.54, an increase of $1,879,100.99 compared with the same period in 1954-55.

Suppressed Jury Statement Basis of Motion for New Trial

In their motion for a new trial for George Baldridge, found guilty of first degree manslaughter in the shotgun killing of Game Protector Irvin J. Patrick, his lawyers stressed alleged error on the part of Judge John Case in not hearing the statement Donald Lange, for-man of the jury, wanted to make immediately after the verdict was returned.

The motion for a new trial, made at 11 A. M. Saturday, the day after the doors of the Ohio Penitentiary in Columbus had been locked behind Baldridge, was denied by Judge Case.

Before Baldridge was sentenced Friday morning, the attorneys for the convicted former sheriff of Adams County had been snubbed up short by Judge Case when they insisted on injecting the suppressed statement into the case.

In addition to the usual claims of error, such as failure to admit evidence submitted by the defense, admitting evidence over defense objections and failing to incorporate special charges in his charge to the jury, the first alleged cause of error given reads:

"IRREGULARITY in the proceedings of the court in this cause to-wit: The court refused to receive or consider a written statement of the jury in respect to their verdict at the time the said verdict was returned to the court, which written statement of the jury if read together, with the verdict returned by the jury would have nullified said verdict so returned in this case, and would have required the court to have instructed the jury further and that they thereafter reconsider such verdict. Said action of the court was prejudicial to the rights of the defendant and prevented him from having a fair trial."

Lange asked if he could make a statement after the verdict had been returned and after the jurors were asked if it was their verdict and they had answered in the affirmative.

Defense counsel endeavored to have Lange testify as to what was in the statement he had asked the court's permission to make before Baldridge was sentenced and after sentence had been pronounced. Attorney Emory Smith narrowly escaped citation for contempt of court for urging that the court hear Lange's statement.

Baldridge's attorneys are expected to appeal the case to the higher courts.

Neighbor Boy Held In Death Of Girl, 18

KAUKAUNA, Wis. (AP)—The bludgeoned body of Theresa Van Der Horst, 18, a senior at Kaukauna High School who had been missing from her home for two nights, was found yesterday in the basement of a neighbor's house.

Dist. Atty. Fred Froehlich said Michael McCormick, 17, a junior at the high school, was held without charge.

Froehlich said McCormick admitted that he had beaten the girl on the head with a brass shell case and stuffed her body in an alcove in the basement.

The district attorney said McCormick related that he and the girl met in the basement Friday night. She told him she was pregnant and threatened to tell his parents that he was responsible if he did not run away and marry her. Froehlich quoted McCormick as saying.

County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps said a preliminary autopsy report indicated the girl died of suffocation.

The girl's body was found in the home of Mrs. Angela McCormick, the boy's grandmother. The discovery was made by Police Chief Harold Engerson, who had been leading the search for the girl since she was reported missing by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Van Der Horst. Engerson quoted Mrs. McCormick as saying she knew nothing of the tragedy.

Racial Dispute May Produce Third Party

96 Solons From Dixie Sign Manifesto Hitting Supreme Court Decision

WASHINGTON (AP)—Southern senators held open today the possibility of a third party movement if the Democratic National Convention should commit the party firmly in favor of racial integration in public schools.

Sen. Strom Thurmond (D-SC) who led the Democratic States Rights party which captured four Dixie states in 1948, said he knows of no third party move at this time, but he added:

"I have enlisted with the South Carolina Democratic party and if any dispute arises with the national party organization, I will be with the South Carolina Democratic party."

Sen. Russell (D-Ga) voiced the opinion that what happens in the way of any third party move "will depend on what happens at the convention, what kind of a platform it writes and what candidate it nominates."

Southern legislators set forth their views on the integration question yesterday in a "manifesto" signed by 96 legislators — 19 senators and 77 House members from 11 states. All but two Representatives Poff and Broyhill of Virginia, were Democrats. The 11 states have 22 senators and 105 representatives.

The statement pledged to exercise "all lawful means" to bring about a reversal of the 1954 decision by the Supreme Court outlawing segregated public schools. No specific courses of action were spelled out.

Sen. George (D-Ga) and Rep. Howard W. Smith (D-Va) arranged to read the statement today in the Senate and House. Among other things, it declared the Supreme Court's integration decision to be "a clear abuse of judicial power." It said the justices used "unwarranted exercise of power by the court, contrary to the Constitution, is creating chaos and confusion in the states principally affected. It is destroying the amicable relations between the white and Negro races that have been created through 90 years of patient effort by the good people of both races. It has planted hatred and suspicion where there has been heretofore friendship and understanding."

"Without regard to the consent of the governed, outside agitators are threatening immediate and revolutionary changes in our public school systems. If done, this is certain to destroy the system of public education in some of the states."

Of the 22 senators from the 11 states represented, 3 did not sign the manifesto—Senators Kefauver (D-Tenn), Gore (D-Tenn), and Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex). "I just don't agree with it," Kefauver said. Gore declined comment.

Johnson, the Senate's Democratic leader, said he understood he wasn't invited to join because the statement's sponsors didn't want it "construed as an attempt to formulate senatorial or Democratic party policy."

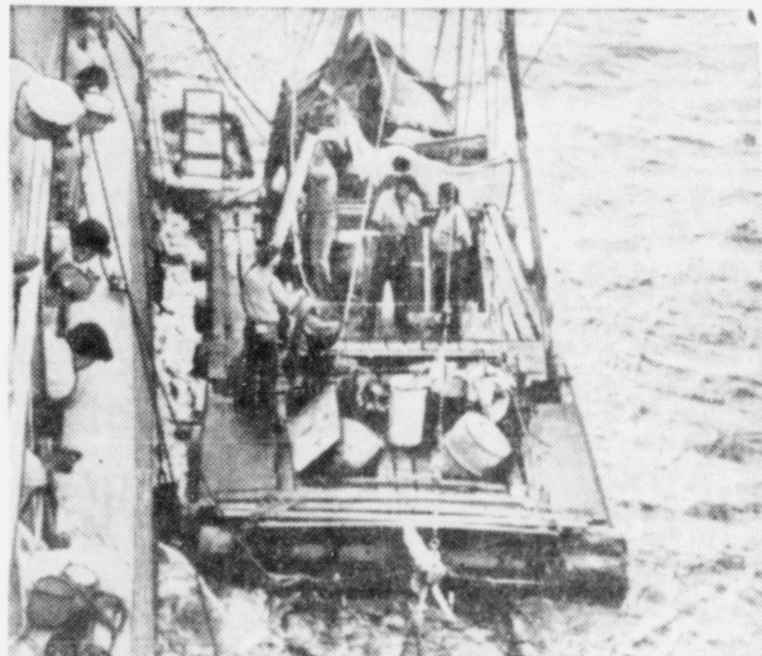

Alabama University Soph Expelled For Race Rioting

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—One student was expelled, four others suspended and a score more less severely punished by the University of Alabama today for participation in rioting which drove Negro coed Autherine Lucy from the campus Feb. 6.

Miss Lucy was expelled from classes after rioting Feb. 6. She was expelled Feb. 29 for filing unproved charges that university officials were in conspiracy with the mobs. She withdrew the charges before her expulsion.

Car Driver Is Nabbed By Motorcyclist when Leaving Accident Scene

Three wrecks were investigated by the sheriff Orland Hays and deputies during the week end and four drivers were arrested for driving while drunk.

Roy Adams, 44, city, was charged with driving under the influence of liquor and on the wrong side of Route 35 near West Lancaster when his car crashed into a motorcycle ridden by Toni O'Dell Saylor, 17, of Springfield.

Saylor sustained four fractures of his right leg, including a compound fracture, and was otherwise injured.

Adams, according to Sheriff Hays, failed to stop, so another youth who was on a motorcycle and riding near Saylor followed Adams, overtook him, opened the door of Adams car, shoved him from behind the wheel and stopped the car.

Which of three motorcycling companions of Saylor actually ran down Adams and took control of his car is still uncertain. Sheriff Hays said, explaining that Deputy Sheriff Robert McArthur, who made the arrest later, had filed only his preliminary report and would not be in the office to fill in the details until he came on duty tonight.

With Saylor were James Taylor and Billy Anthony of Springfield and Earnest Blair of Dayton—one of them presumably, made the spectacular stop of Adams while the others remained with their seriously injured companion.

He then held Adams until Deputy Sheriff McArthur arrived and

Congressman Doubts Coming Legislation To Help Very Much

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress now is involved in the old argument about what should be done to help the farmers.

What about the Ohio farmer, is he making much money?

Agriculture Department statistics show the Ohio farmer is back where he was in 1949. That year, net income per farm in Ohio was $2,199. This figure declined to $1,876 the following year, and rose to a peak of $2,434 in 1951.

Last year, the Ohio farmer made an estimated $2,106.

Among Ohio members of Congress, most Democrats favor high price supports for basic crops while Republicans go along with the administration's flexible supports.

Congressman James G. Polk, Democrat of Highland County, Ohio, who next November will ask voters of the Sixth District to give him a tenth term, says he can't see where farmers will improve their position through any foreseeable legislation from this Congress.

Polk, the only Ohioan on the House Agriculture Committee, says one important feature of the administration's proposal is to take out of production up to 50 million acres of crops and put them into a soil bank reserve.

THE IDEA would be to pay the farmer not to use this land.

"A family size farmer would benefit very little from that," Polk said. "He doesn't have enough acreage to take out for payments to mean very much to him."

But Republican Jackson E. Betts of Findlay looks at the administration program differently.

"The whole problem is overproduction and anything like the soil bank that helps cut down on production stabilizes the market for the Ohio farmer," Betts contends.

Meanwhile, a rigid support plan for rice faces a test today in the Senate, which has rejected higher supports for wheat, cotton, corn and peanuts.

Sen. Ellender (D-La), floor manager for the farm bill, said he hopes to see it passed by tomorrow night "even if we have to stay here until midnight." Republican Leader Knowland of California set his sights on final action Wednesday.

The Senate Agriculture Committee, which Ellender heads, proposed a trial of the two-price plan for rice. Under this, rice grown for domestic use would be eligible for price support at 90 per cent of parity, while the excess for overseas shipment would be sold without support at world market prices.

Parity is a price determined under farm law to be fair to farmers in relation to their costs.

Rice, like other basic crops, is now supported under a flexible scale which rises when more is needed and drops when a surplus is on hand.

The Senate voted last week to retain the flexible system on wheat, cotton, corn and peanuts. The House voted 206-201 last year to return to a 90 per cent level for two years. The two houses must agree before any new farm bill can become law.

Gale Winds Fan Los Angeles Fire

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Fanned by gale force winds, flames swept through seven expensive homes of suburban Tujunga early today and raced along a half mile front through scrub timber.

Families in nearby homes were evacuated as more than 100 firemen, leaning into 70 to 85 miles an hour winds, tried to slow the swiftly moving flames.

Small explosions punctuated the roaring and crackling as the modern homes were consumed. At least two homes were unroofed by the wind.

Ernest recalls that no gas or oil was encountered but plenty of salt water was found at the lower level, and it was necessary to plug the well to prevent the salt water from polluting the sweet or fresh water in the upper levels of the well.

He recalls that a heavy layer of sand and gravel was found about 75 feet below the surface and extended to the bedrock.

Presence of the sand and gravel on top of the limestone or bedrock proves that glaciers which covered this area two or three times had scooped out the earth down to bedrock as it moved with irresistible force, one coming down from the northwest and the other from the northeast.

Another well drilled some 1800 feet deep in search of oil in southern Fayette County, is located along Route 62 near the east bank of Rattlesnake Creek. Sen. George (D-Ga.) and Rep. Howard W. Smith (D-Va.) arranged to read the statement today in the Senate and House. Among other things, it declared the Supreme Court's integration decision to be "a clear abuse of judicial power." It said the justices used "naked judicial power and substituted their personal political and social idea for the established law of the land," and continued:

"This unwarranted exercise of power by the court, contrary to the Constitution, is creating chaos and confusion in the states principally affected. It is destroying the amicable relations between the white and Negro races that have been created through 90 years of patient effort by the good people of both races. It has planted hatred and suspicion where there has been heretofore friendship and understanding."

"Without regard to the consent of the governed, outside agitators are threatening immediate and revolutionary changes in our public school systems. If done, this is certain to destroy the system of public education in some of the states."

Of the 22 senators from the 11 states represented, 3 did not sign the manifesto—Senators Kefauver (D-Tenn.), Gore (D-Tenn.), and Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.). "I just don't agree with it," Kefauver said. Gore declined comment.

Johnson, the Senate's Democratic leader, said he understood he wasn't invited to join because the statement's sponsors didn't want it "construed as an attempt to formulate senatorial or Democratic party policy."

Alabama University Soph Expelled For Race Rioting

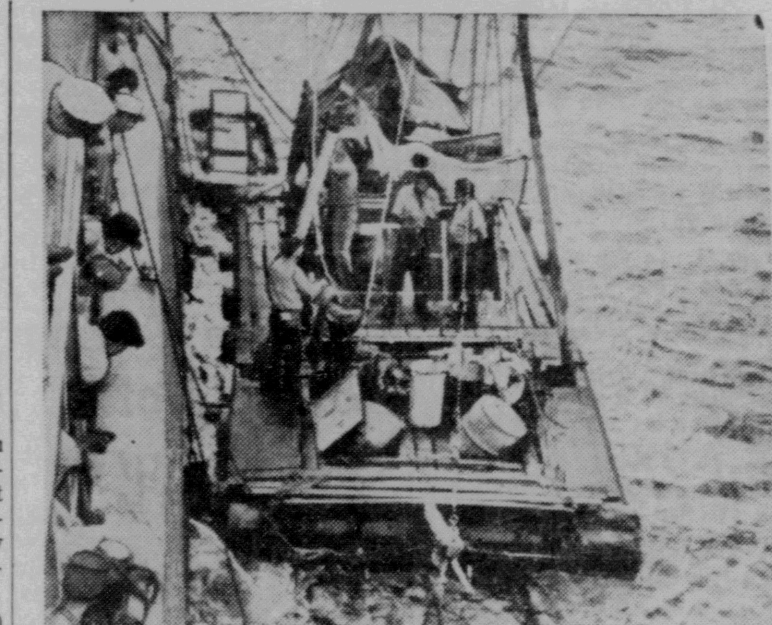

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—One student was expelled, four others suspended and a score more less severely punished by the University of Alabama today for participation in rioting which drove Negro coe Aethene Lucy from the campus Feb. 6.

Leonard Wilson, 20-year-old sophomore from Selma, Ala., was called from class and expelled. His was the only name announced in the disciplinary action by the university's board of trustees.

Miss Lucy was excluded from classes after rioting Feb. 6. She was expelled Feb. 29 for filing unproved charges that university officials were in conspiracy with the mobs. She withdrew the charges before her expulsion.

Wilson, who addressed student demonstrations the nights of Feb. 3 and 4, was called from class today and told of his expulsion.

A statement from the trustees said Wilson was thrown out because of his part in student rioting and also because of "unwarranted and outrageous public attacks" on Dr. Oliver C. Carmichael, university president, and other school officials.

Car Driver Is Nabbed By Motorcyclist when Leaving Accident Scene

Three wrecks were investigated by the sheriff Orland Hays and four deputies during the week end and four drivers were arrested for driving while drunk.

Ray Adams, 44, city, was charged with driving under the influence of liquor and on the wrong side of Route 35 near West Lancaster when his car crashed into a motorcycle ridden by Toni O'Dell Saylers, 17, of Springfield.

Saylers sustained four fractures of his right leg, including a compound fracture, and was otherwise injured.

Adams, according to Sheriff Hays, failed to stop, so another youth who was on a motorcycle and riding near Saylers followed Adams, overtook him, opened the door of Adams car, shoved him from behind the wheel and stopped the car.

Which of three motorcycling companions of Saylers actually ran down Adams and took control of his car is still uncertain, Sheriff Hays said, explaining that Deputy Sheriff Robert McArthur, who made the arrest later, had filed only his preliminary report and would not be in the office to fill in the details until he came on duty tonight.

With Saylers were James Taylor and Billy Anthony of Springfield and Earnest Blair of Dayton—one of them presumably, made the spectacular stop of Adams while the others remained with their seriously injured companion.

He then held Adams until Deputy Sheriff McArthur arrived and

Congressman Doubts Coming Legislation To Help Very Much

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress now is involved in the old argument about what should be done to help the farmers.

What about the Ohio farmer, is he making much money?

Agriculture Department statistics show the Ohio farmer is back where he was in 1949. That year, net income per farm in Ohio was $2,199. This figure declined to $1,876 the following year, and rose to a peak of $2,434 in 1951.

Last year, the Ohio farmer made an estimated $2,106.

Among Ohio members of Congress, most Democrats favor high price supports for basic crops while Republicans go along with the administration's flexible supports.

Congressman James G. Polk, Democrat of Highland County, Ohio, who next November will ask voters of the Sixth District to give him a tenth term, says he can't see where farmers will improve their position through any foreseeable legislation from this Congress.

Polk, the only Ohioan on the House Agriculture Committee, says one important feature of the administration's proposal is to take out of production up to 50 million acres of crops and put them into a soil bank reserve.

THE IDEA would be to pay the farmer not to use this land.

"A family size farmer would benefit very little from that," Polk said. "He doesn't have enough acreage to take out for payments to mean very much to him."

But Republican Jackson E. Betts of Findlay looks at the administration program differently.

"The whole problem is overproduction and anything like the soil bank that helps cut down on production stabilizes the market for the Ohio farmer," Betts contends.

Meanwhile, a rigid support plan for rice faces a test today in the Senate, which has rejected higher supports for wheat, cotton, corn and peanuts.

Sen. Ellender (D-La.), floor manager for the farm bill, said he hopes to see it passed by tomorrow night "even if we have to stay here until midnight." Republican Leader Knowland of California set his sights on final action Wednesday.

The Senate Agriculture Committee, which Ellender heads, proposed a trial of the two-price plan for rice. Under this, rice grown for domestic use would be eligible for price support at 90 per cent of parity, while the excess for overseas shipment would be sold without support at world market prices.

Parity is a price determined under farm law to be fair to farmers in relation to their costs.

Rice, like other basic crops, is now supported under a flexible scale which rises when more is needed and drops when a surplus is on hand.

The Senate voted last week to retain the flexible "stem on wheat, cotton, corn and peanuts. The House voted 206-201 last year to return to a 90 per cent level for two years. The two houses must agree before any new farm bill can become law.

Gale Winds Fan Los Angeles Fire

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Fanned by gale force winds, flames swept through seven expensive homes of suburban Tujunga early today and raced along a half mile front through scrub timber.

Families in nearby homes were evacuated as more than 100 firemen, leaning into 70 to 85 miles an hour winds, tried to slow the swiftly moving flames.

Small explosions punctuated the roaring and crackling as the modernistic homes were consumed. At least two homes were unroofed by the wind.

County Boys in Scout-O-Rama

9 Units From Here To Put On Exhibits

Nine Fayette County Cub Scout and Boy Scout units will be in the spotlight this week end at the Scout-O-Rama in Columbus.

Designed to show parents and friends of Scouts and the general public what the boys do in their programs, the Scout-O-Rama will feature two days of exhibits, demonstrations and entertainments.

A single unit from the county will have a demonstration running in one of the 200 booths at the State Fairgrounds, location of the show. Eight other Fayette County units will put on acts in the arena show.

Cub Pack 229, sponsored by the Cherry Hill PTA and led by Charles Sheridan, will be the county's representative in the exhibit booth section of the Scout-O-Rama. The youngsters will put on a continuing demonstration of kite-making during the two days of the show.

Several Fayette County units had planned to set up booths. Scouters here said, but the show ran out of booth space before any but Pack 229 had made application.

Last year, a dozen Fayette units had booths.

ARENA SHOW entrants from here will be among hundreds of Ohio Scouts demonstrating "Scouts at Play."

A sample of the kind of games and stunts to be demonstrated before the crowd expected to turn out for the show is the program of Troop 152. The boys will play "Jump the Shot" and "Swat 'Em" in their section of the show. The troop is sponsored by the First Baptist Church here. Robert Bachelor is the scoutmaster.

Other troops, and packs planning to take part in the arena show are:

Troop 32 of the Grace Methodist Church, under Scoutmaster Francis Reid;

Troop 316, sponsored by the Jaycees and led by Scoutmaster Bill Williams, planning to show off a routine titled "Save My Child."

Pack 13 of the Sunnyside PTA and led by Cubmaster Robert Woods, to explain and show the various shoulder patches worn by Cubs;

Pack 32 of the Central PTA, led by Cubmaster H. S. Stemple, with "Steal the Bacon";

Troop 67 of Jeffersonville with "Pancake Flip";

Pack 303 of the Milledgeville PTO, under Cubmaster Charles H. Ser, a display of "Barrel Jousting";

Pack 133, sponsored by the Sunday school of the Madison Mills Methodist Church and led by Cubmaster Bill Dailey, with "Playway—Ball Catching."

All the Fayette County units will put on their arena shows between 2:30 and 3:30 P. M. Saturday, but other arena shows are scheduled throughout the two-day Scout-O-Rama.

The booth displays, including the one by Pack 229, are each scheduled to run through both Saturday and Sunday.

Tickets to the Scout-O-Rama are being sold by members of all the county's Boy Scout, Cub and Explorer units, with prizes scheduled for award to the top units and individuals.

Virginia Quads Do OK, But Very Hungry

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—The nation's littlest celebrities, the Shaia quadruplets, have started their third day of life with surprisingly good health but no names and terribly empty stomachs.

The quads, all girls, were born Saturday to Mrs. Richard Shaia, 32, wife of a restaurant owner.

Physicians at St. Luke's Hospital said today, "They're looking better all the time."

Born more than a month premature, the quads weighed a total of only 16 pounds 3 1/2 ounces. They were placed in two double incubators.

"Everything is going particularly well," said Dr. Carolyn McCue, the pediatrician who watched over the tiny babies constantly.

The identical quads get their first nourishment today—a sugar and water mixture. Barring adverse reactions, regular formula feeding will begin.

As to names, Papa Shaia planned to confer with Mama Shaia before deciding. Shaia, 30, and Mrs. Shaia have five other children, 2 to 9.

The attending physician, Dr. William Hughes Evans, said the quadruplet births were "perfectly normal" and that the mother came through her ordeal "very nicely." The babies were delivered in 14 minutes.

Strike On Cyprus Spreads; Greece Growing Anti-British

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—A spontaneous general strike spread like wildfire throughout Cyprus today, virtually paralyzing all business on this British colony island in the eastern Mediterranean.

Shops, banks and schools were closed in protest against Britain's exile of Archbishop Makarios, leader of the union-with-Greece movement.

No specific call was made by any organization for the general strike. Many of the shops had been closed since Saturday.

British troops wielding clubs dispersed a small crowd outside the Phaneromeni church in Nicosia after the crowd had stoned a patrol car. The British threw a cordon of soldiers around the church.

Another group of 200 demonstrators was dispersed without incident near Metaxas Square. British troops patrolled the streets of this tense capital.

IN ATHENS, the Greek government banned mass meetings called for today in protest against the deportation of Archbishop Makarios to a remote Indian Ocean island.

Greek trade union leaders called for a general strike in Greece against what they termed "the barbarous acts of the British in Cyprus" and the archbishop's arrest.

Greek Premier Constantine Karamanlis proposed that the United British-Greek dispute.

3-C Theater Taken over By Chakeres

Jim Chakeres, owner and operator of the Fayette Theater here, has acquired the 3-C Drive-in Theater on the CCC Highway west of Washington C. H.

The Fayette is the only motion picture theater in Washington C. H. and the 3-C Drive-in is the only theater of the kind in Fayette County.

He completed the deal to take over the 3-C Drive-in from J. H. Davidson and K. J. Roberts last week.

Monday, Chakeres announced that the 3-C Drive-in would open April 1 and said the schedule of shows would be essentially the same as it has been in the past.

This will be the eighth season for the Drive-in.

Chakeres came to Washington C. H. in 1940 when he purchased the State Theater. Later he acquired the Palace Theater from George Revells, but closed it after a couple of years and remodeled the State Theater extensively.

The building, which had housed the Palace Theater for many years, was remodeled after the theater was closed. There are now several suits of offices where old motion picture house used to be.

Two years ago, Chakeres acquired the Fayette Theater from Hoy O. Simons and other and soon after that, he closed the State Theater. The old State Theater room has since been remodeled and is now occupied by the Sears Roebuck Catalog Store.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: A reference to Family Service in your column of Feb. 15 is bringing us a great many letters and phone calls from troubled people.

Since being forthright is a virtue you cherish, I am assuming that you will want to hear from us on points of accuracy or professional experience which we feel might be useful to your work.

In regard to your column of Feb. 15, based on a letter from the mother of an unwed pregnant daughter, we have two points:

1. Our staff person who handles mail and calls from people wanting help is Mrs. Alice Adler, family life consultant. You gave the name of Miss Virginia L. Amos, field director.

2. In your reply to the mother, you suggested that a solution for the young girl and her expected baby might be to marry the boy and later secure an annulment or divorce. Our feeling is that such planning would be highly undesirable. We doubt if one error can be corrected by embarking upon another.

Talk For Adoption

What of the effects on the child? He has gained a father's name but hardly a father. Unless the girl's parents assume financial responsibility, she may find it necessary to release the child for adoption.

It might be that both mother and daughter will decide that the child's welfare is best served by a plan to permit its adoption, at birth, by a couple whose marriage is secure and who are prepared to give the baby the security of love and a home, as well as a name. In any case, it is our view that "a marriage of convenience" only adds to the problems facing these people.

I hope you will welcome this discussion.

J. H. S.

DEAR J.H.S.: I believe the foregoing digests the import of your letter, here condensed due to space limitations. I am glad to direct readers' attention to the fact that Mrs. Alice Adler handles mail and telephone calls from persons wanting to help from the Family Service Association of America at 192 Lexington Avenue, New York City 16.

In regard to Point No. 2: It is subtly inaccurate to say this column "suggested that a solution for the young girl and her baby might be to marry the boy, in a loveless marriage, and later secure an annulment or divorce."

More precisely, my comment recognized a probability that the girl doesn't know what her basic or enduring sentiments are, in the first flush of panic, shame, guilt feelings, etc. And I said: "If the boy is an acceptable sort, the constructive next move might be for the youngsters to marry, to give the child a legitimate start in life, and to establish the babe's kinship to his natural grandparents."

Central Question

And then I added, "as the principals are minor-age (and if your religion permits), a quiet divorce (or annulment) might follow later. But consult your family lawyer or spiritual director on these points." I didn't formulate finalities. Rath-

(City School Superintendent)

In a recent lesson in their health study, Mrs. Trace's third grade in the Methodist Church talked about the importance of milk in everyone's daily diet. A story in the language-book fitted in with the health lesson in that the story told how milk used to be sold on the streets from large containers, with each householder bringing his own pail or pitcher in which to carry the milk home. The class became concerned with the handling of milk today.

Arrangements were made to visit the dairy farm of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dill. One blustery, foggy morning in February, the class went in the school bus to the Dill farm on Creek Road.

It was a wide-eyed, excited, yet well-behaved group who made the trip. Judy Penwell said, "I've never seen a cow milked before!" Several others chorused, "Neither have I!" Jennifer Lee said that her grandfather in Sabina used to have a cow, but that he milked his by hand, not by machine. Roger Storer said that he had lived on a farm and had helped to milk the cows. Several giggled and thought it might be fun to try.

On arrival at the farm, Mr. Dill met the bus, and cautioned the children to stand quietly around the cow because she was not used to an audience at milking time. The children were so interested at this point they would probably have crawled in on hands and knees had he requested.

They closely watched the process of the cleansing of the cow before the attaching of the milking machine. An added attraction to the scene was the family cat which also supervised the operation.

Mr. Dill carefully explained each step of the proceedings so that every child could understand what was happening. Then when the cow was milked—and Bossy was not at all perturbed by her open-mouthed audience—Mr. Dill showed how the milk was put into a large cooling vat—agitated and cooled. He showed the class how the truck from the dairy would attach a hose to the vat and withdraw the milk to the truck, thus making the milk arrive at the dairy untouched by human hands.

As they left the barn, the class saw the new-born heifer calves and the family's young puppy.

On the return trip, the questions were varied and fast. "What is a heifer?" "Does the dairy touch the milk with hands?" "Why couldn't we see him milk all of his cows?" Leslie Hopkins asked, "Why is there fog low to the ground and not up higher?" And finally, of course, the question was asked, "May we go to the dairy to see Mr. Dill's milk put into cartons?"

Hostesses Urged For City Buses

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Hostesses have been proposed for the city express buses when service starts to Los Angeles.

Transportation superintendent William Farrell said the uniformed hostesses would assist children and elderly persons, give scheduled information and point out interesting spots along the route.

The city council is expected to study Farrell's proposal.

Canton Man Held In Death Of His Wife

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Police said charges probably will be filed today against a man held in the slaying of his wife, the mother of seven children. Her body was recovered from a shallow grave in the backyard at their home in the southeast section of town.

Officers said William Armstead, 41, admitted stabbing his wife to death with a butcher knife following an argument March 4.

The body of Mrs. Susie Armstead, 39, was dug from a grave about two feet deep Saturday. Detective Capt. Frank J. Burnosky said Armstead admitted slaying his wife and pointed out her grave after a blood-stained petticoat was found in the basement of the Armstead home.

Burnosky said Armstead told him he stabbed his wife, hid the body in the basement until it was dark and then buried it in the yard. He dug up some more of the yard to make it appear as though

Arab Propaganda Rapped By Rabbi

CINCINNATI (AP)—Rabbi Charles E. Shulman of New York, a World War II Navy chaplain, says Arab league governments are spreading Arab propaganda through students in America.

Shulman, in an address Sunday, at a meeting of the Cincinnati Jewish Welfare Fund, also said he believes that Saudi Arabia has launched a campaign of anti-semitism in the United States.

The rabbi, former vice president of the National Assn. of Jewish Chaplains, said that many students in America from Arab countries come "not to obtain degrees, but to spread Arab propaganda."

He said Saudi Arabia hired a New York public relations firm to conduct a campaign of anti-semitism in the U.S. He did not name the firm.

And then I added, "as the principals are minor-age (and if your religion permits), a quiet divorce (or annulment) might follow later. But consult your family lawyer or spiritual director on these points." I didn't formulate finalities. Rather, er I was careful throughout to direct the correspondent to professional sources of leadership, namely: the Family Service, the Florence Crittenton Association, and the lawyer and spiritual director aforementioned.

Perhaps I should emphasize that all my comment was related to the mother's central question. She had asked, in effect, if there was a possible humane alternative to "placing our daughter in a maternity home, and later giving the child for adoption?" She coupled this question with another: "How do you go on living with the thought that your own grandchild is lost to you forever?"

Hence my tentative theory that a way may be found, that is decently compatible with legal and moral and social propriety, to constructively keep the child in the family. And I sincerely hope that all professional counselors aren't closed-minded to this idea.

Farmers Take Other Jobs To Hike Income

CLEVELAND (AP)—The monthly "business review" publication of the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland says declining income has forced many farmers in the fourth Federal Reserve District to take part-time jobs in other fields to supplement their earnings.

Other factors in the trend from the farm are labor-saving farm machinery and rapid expansion of urban and industrial development, the publication said today.

The number of farm operators in the district, which embraces all of Ohio and parts of Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Kentucky, dropped 11 per cent to 313,380 in the latest census period, 1950-54.

There was a 2 per cent decline in the number of part-time farmers throughout the district from 1950 to 1954, but in Ohio there was a five per cent increase.

Counties where manufacturing, mining, forest product industries or a combination of those fields tend to dominate the economy have the largest percentage of part-time farmers, "Business Review" said.

The predominantly agricultural region of central Kentucky, counties adjacent to that area and those in northwestern Ohio have the lowest percentage of farmers with part-time jobs.

"It seems likely that the shift from farm to nonfarm employment will continue," the publication said, "and that, at least for some years ahead, an increasing proportion of farm operators will engage in off-farm work to the extent that opportunities for such employment exist."

Worcester, Mass., claims that the cotton gin, sewing machine, power carpet loom, steam calliope, and street lunch cart were invented there.

Canton Man Held In Death Of His Wife

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Police said charges probably will be filed today against a man held in the slaying of his wife, the mother of seven children. Her body was recovered from a shallow grave in the backyard at their home in the southeast section of town.

Officers said William Armstead, 41, admitted stabbing his wife to death with a butcher knife following an argument March 4.

The body of Mrs. Susie Armstead, 39, was dug from a grave about two feet deep Saturday. Detective Capt. Frank J. Burnosky said Armstead admitted slaying his wife and pointed out her grave after a blood-stained petticoat was found in the basement of the Armstead home.

Burnosky said Armstead told him he stabbed his wife, hid the body in the basement until it was dark and then buried it in the yard. He dug up some more of the yard to make it appear as though

Arab Propaganda Rapped By Rabbi

CINCINNATI (AP)—Rabbi Charles E. Shulman of New York, a World War II Navy chaplain, says Arab league governments are spreading Arab propaganda through students in America.

Shulman, in an address Sunday, at a meeting of the Cincinnati Jewish Welfare Fund, also said he believes that Saudi Arabia has launched a campaign of anti-semitism in the United States.

The rabbi, former vice president of the National Assn. of Jewish Chaplains, said that many students in America from Arab countries come "not to obtain degrees, but to spread Arab propaganda."

He said Saudi Arabia hired a New York public relations firm to conduct a campaign of anti-semitism in the U.S. He did not name the firm.

The FFA Developing Many Future Leaders

In these days of high tension controversy over farm issues, as well as scores of other things which politicians seem to emphasize in an important election year, it appears most promising that one of the fast growing and influential farm groups of our country is the Future Farmers of America with its outstanding program.

There are some mighty fine young men here and elsewhere, helping push this organization forward, young men who will mean much in tomorrow's leadership in this nation.

We have seen them in action right here in Fayette County and the increasing membership as well as the high type of individuals represented, should be a matter of real pride to our whole community.

It is only within comparatively recent years that peoples' attention has been drawn more and more to this organization.

Many of the young men in the FFA will readily acknowledge that the most important influence in their lives, next to that of family, has been their experiences as members of this organization. In it they get not only high ideals to live by, but also they are helped to establish themselves in their chosen vocation of farming or agricultural leadership.

The FFA, organized on a national scale in 1928, comprises young men studying vocational agriculture in high schools. It has some 385,000 members in the United States, Puerto Rico and Hawaii, organized into local chapters, statewide groups, with national headquarters in the Department of Education in Washington, D. C. The organizational setup is self-supporting from members' dues, although many of their activities are given outside support by friends interested in their progress.

The primary aim of FFA is to develop agricultural leadership, cooperation and citizenship. This is achieved through individual and group activities in the local, state, and national organizations which give boys the incentive and opportunity to develop their character and talent.

Each boy must have some active farming enterprise on which he receives the guidance of his vocational agriculture teacher. This enterprise besides including actual farming, requires related activities such as farm mechanics, soil conservation, safety, electrification and others. Certain group activities are also required. Meetings are held. Public speaking contests are conducted. Community activities are developed according to local needs. The boys themselves initiate and govern these activities so that they share the experience of democracy at work in the rural community.

As the boys' enterprises and activities progress, they receive various degrees of recognition which is in the form of degrees of membership in FFA. These degrees are awarded, depending on the attainment involved, by local, state and national organizations. Each degree requires specific levels of attainment with respect to farming, earnings, investments, leadership and scholarship.

The top FFA honor is the National Star Farmer degree which is awarded at the national convention each year. The young man who receives this award is selected from recommendations made by state organizations. He is indeed the country's outstanding young farmer.

The FFA has been a big step in developing one important civic thing and that is more mutual understanding between city and country, between industry and the farm. All of us are better citizens for such understanding and are better able to follow the FFA motto:

Learning to Do;
Doing to Learn;
Earning to Live;
Living to Serve.

Hail To The Common Bore!

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—The unsung hero of civilization is not the common man but the common bore.

The common man has had so much praise in this generation that everybody wants to be one. How often do you hear someone remark, "Well, looking at it from the viewpoint of the common man, I'd say—"

But nobody ever hears the common bore, and no one will publicly admit he is one. This is unfair. We give even the devil his due. Why deny the common bore the credit he deserves?

The truth is that if the common man is the backbone of civilization, the common bore is the social glue of civilization. He forces us to stick together to escape him.

I asked a famous hostess once what was the secret of a successful party.

"One secret," she replied, "is to be sure to invite at least one resounding bore."

"Why?" I inquired, surprised.

"Well," she said, "a bore fills that critical gap between the arrival of the guests and the time the second martini takes hold. He may not have a single thing worth saying, but he always has something to say.

"No matter how strange the other guests may have felt at first, by the end of the second martini they know at least they aren't as boring as the one who has done all the talking up until then. He has knitted them together as a common annoyance always does.

"They have a fine time for the rest of the party enjoying each other and ducking him."

While this may seem like cruelty toward the bore, the saving feature is that if he is a real, true-bore bore, he goes home from the party more satisfied than anybody. He is flattered to have held so many ears for so long.

Naturally, there are different types of bores, and their virtues vary. Here are the two general classes:

The galloping, or strident bore. He is usually an agile, loudmouthered spokesman for an obscure cause. "Why," he demands, "do firemen only collect Christmas toys for poor children in their own neighborhood? Why don't they ship them to the Mau Mau kiddies as a goodwill gesture?" He not only wants your attention. He expects you to contribute funds. Very little can be said of this kind of bore. He is a public nuisance.

The sedentary, or slow-moving bore. This is merely a simple-hearted fellow on a verbal roller whose mind is in his vocal cords and whose nature endlessly craves an audience. He is actually the salt of the earth. But you know how it is with salt. Enough's enough.

What is the very worst bore of all? Historians of the bore say there is really very little difference between male and female bores of the common, or sedentary variety. But they likewise agree that nothing is more impossible than a galloping lady bore under a full head of steam and with her throttle open.

Election Every Four Years, Too

By George Sokolsky

Come hell or high water, as the expression goes, whenever leap year comes upon us, so does a of life which are not suppressed presidential election and then we are required to face those facts by diligent bureaucrats who mark them, "Top Secret."

The 1956 presidential election is going to be a tough battle as the Republicans dare not lose because they may not have another chance, and the Democrats need to win or they will be taken over by the socialists.

While there might be some reason for going to the Chicago convention of the Democrats, it seems to me altogether foolhardy to go to the San Francisco convention where nothing will happen. President Eisenhower has renominated himself by radio and television and the San Francisco convention will not only endorse his action but will accommodate him by selecting a vice presidential candidate of his choice.

The assumption that the election was over when Ike made his acceptance speech on radio and television is bred by a radiant optimism. Actually, between now and November, the Democrats will devote themselves to proving that bureaucrats know how to govern better than business men do and are on the whole more honorable. It may be a difficult thesis to prove but the effort will be made and Eisenhower administration will be forced to defend not only its conduct but also its personnel. It will be easier for the Democrats to attack the businessmen who have governed America during the past four years than it would be to attack President Eisenhower personally. As a matter of fact, he will not, according to his statement, campaign for re-election which means that when the going gets tough, others will have to do it because the Democrats will force it upon the Republicans to defend their record.

Had the Republicans not been so roseate about Russia and communism, they might have, by now, uncovered another Alger Hiss or Harry Dexter White to label the Democrats as the party of treason, but good manners and fine breeding caused the management of the Republican party to seal the files and to separate themselves from such diggers in red muck as Joe McCarthy. "If a bed error of this sort is uncovered between now and campaign time, it will be done by one of two Democrats, by either Senator McClellan or Senator Eastland. And it is to be expected that despite the sealing of the files and the refusal to testify, the Democrats will continue to dig in the hope of proving that the Republican party and not the Democratic party is the party of treason. Or maybe, some corruption will be found, and corruption is these days juicier than treason and much more interesting. At any rate, we can expect that whatever becomes available will be disclosed.

The question does arise as to what will be done about the great issues which not only face but beset the American people. Neither party can say very much about NATO, SEATO or METO because both pursued the same foreign policies which brought these international alliances into being and if we analyze the whole range of foreign relations very closely, we are at best functioning under

Harry Truman's "containment policy," with the Russians skillfully hopping across the lowered Iron Curtain into the territory which we designated as ours. We think this subject will be avoided during the campaign, as will the verities of our Middle Eastern oil policy except in the northeastern states where the Jewish voters are more numerous than the Arab and Syrian voters put together. The Arabs only have oil, but in a presidential election year, it is votes that count, as every politician knows.

Why did they have to send those tanks to Saudi Arabia from Brooklyn? Could they not find a port where such cargo for such a purpose would not be so offensive or is there nobody left in the State Department who knows what the composition of Brooklyn's population is? Do the Republicans expect to get any votes in Brooklyn?

So, the campaign will move in all these directions and until about the middle of October, nobody will have much of an idea of how it is going. The pollsters will continue to prove what everybody admits, namely, that Eisenhower is popular but the whole situation is so complicated by the President's own acceptance speech that it is now a doubtful election.

Burglar Hunter Also Is Victim

BELLEVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Chief Deputy Sheriff Clifford Flood had a surprise on returning home after searching for burglars who've been prowling suburban areas of Belleville.

His own home had been burglarized.

Flood said the burglars entered the home by forcing a basement window and then ransacked the house. He said government savings bonds with a face value of $3,200 and envelopes containing personal records and letters were missing.

Steam Kettle Still Is Best Humidifier

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN
New developments are not always the best.

Modern cold-air mechanical humidifiers, for example are valuable adjuncts to certain therapy. But for treating respiratory disorders in children, many physicians prefer the old steam kettle or other devices using the same principle.

The purpose of both cold-air humidifiers and steam kettles, when used for relieving such disorders, is to increase the amount of moisture in the air.

Breathing Passages

Moist air helps prevent blocking of breathing passages which occurs in many cases of respiratory inflammation.

The air you breathe, of course, enters your respiratory tract at room temperature and humidity. It absorbs moisture from the membranes which line the passages on its way to your lungs. When it is exhaled, it is saturated with water and has attained body temperature.

Loss of Water

When the temperature and humidity of the inhaled air is lower than the exhaled air, there is a continuous loss of water from the respiratory tract. The drier the inhaled air, the quicker it dries up the membranes.

In cases of acute respiratory disease, this loss of moisture is increased. Eventually the breathing passages may be blocked by dry crusts forming on the membranes.

Dr. Abraham Friedman, a physician from Haifa, Israel, explains the process very well in a recent American Medical Association publication.

To prevent this obstruction, he points out, the air you breathe in must be as moist as the air you breathe out. Thus, temperature and humidity of inhaled air should be about equal to that of the exhaled air.

Specific Temperature

There is a limit to the amount of water air will hold at a specific temperature. To increase the water content, the temperature must be raised.

While mechanical humidifiers may raise the water content, the lower temperature air cannot hold as much water as air of higher temperature. A steam kettle, however, increases both temperature and total water content.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

A Reader: What causes fever blisters to appear?

Answer: Fever blisters are caused by a germ too small to be seen with the ordinary microscope. Often, fever blisters occur following infection or injury.

The Nation Today

James Marlow

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—The special eight-man committee picked by the Senate to investigate lobbying has its work cut out for it. The big question is: Will it do its work?

There are four Democrats and four Republicans on this committee. If they play politics on the direction the investigation takes, splitting along party lines, there won't be much investigation.

They've already shown signs of party splitting. From the time they were appointed Feb. 23 until Saturday they were so badly divided they couldn't agree on rules for doing business.

Now they have agreed — with Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.) as chairman and Sen. Bridges (R-NH) as vice chairman — But the kind of agreement they made leaves the door open for party splits and paralysis.

McClellan as chairman may issue subpoenas for witnesses, documents and records but only after telling Bridges what he intends to do.

If Bridges objects, then the problems must be submitted to the full committee for solution. Any time they split on party lines, there probably will be no solution and no action.

The chief counsel and other staff employees of the committee will be hired only after majority approval. Once again a 4-4 party split could wreck even this elementary effort to get started.

This is going to be an interesting committee to watch, whether it does a real job, shadow boxes or blows up in confusion. This is an election year and a real investigation might cause political explosions.

This committee will not have time for a thorough study of the whole field of lobbying in the time given it. The Senate instructed the committee to finish its job by next Jan. 31.

Just getting a staff together, and then letting the staff dig into the field and prepare the ground-work for public hearings, will take a lot of time. McClellan says now he can't tell when the inquiry will begin.

U. S. Employment Slipping, But Still Remains Above '55

WASHINGTON (AP)—Employment slipped by 314,000 in February to a total of 62,577,000 because of wintry weather and "sizeable layoffs" in the auto industry, the Commerce and Labor departments report.

Automotive employment dropped 85,000 from January, the monthly report showed, and the resulting production cut was reflected in layoffs in industries supplying the motor companies, including metals and rubber.

However, unemployment across the nation remained virtually unchanged at 2,914,000. Joblessness was up only 29,000 for the month, a barely perceptible change statistically speaking.

The joint statement said most of the persons who left seasonal jobs withdrew from the labor market instead of seeking other work. They were not counted as unemployed.

Despite the employment dip, the number of jobholders remained about 2½ million above the level of February 1955. Unemployment was 4.69 percent below a year ago.

Non-farm employment still stood in February at a record for the month, roughly 4 per cent above February 1955.

Factory job, numbering 16,800,000 in February, were down 60,000 instead of showing the usual small seasonal upturn. A larger-than-seasonal increase in the machinery industry, however, offset part of the decline in autos. Over the year, factory employment was up more than 700,000 and the chemicals, printing and primary metals industries were at all-time peaks for the month.

The factory work week averaged 40.6 hours as in January.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Employment Security reported that scattered layoffs in the auto industry in the week ended March 3 raised to more than 100,000 the number of workers in auto assembly and supplies plants who have been laid off since Jan. 1 in seven key states.

The largest new layoff was in Indiana, where 8,000 auto assembly workers were released for a week, and the second largest involved 1,600 workers in Michigan.

The bureau's tabulations showed that more than two-thirds of the auto workers currently laid off are in Michigan, 83 per cent of these being in the Detroit area. "Significant" auto unemployment exists in Indiana, Ohio and New York, the report stated, but some are unemployed also in Illinois, California and Wisconsin.

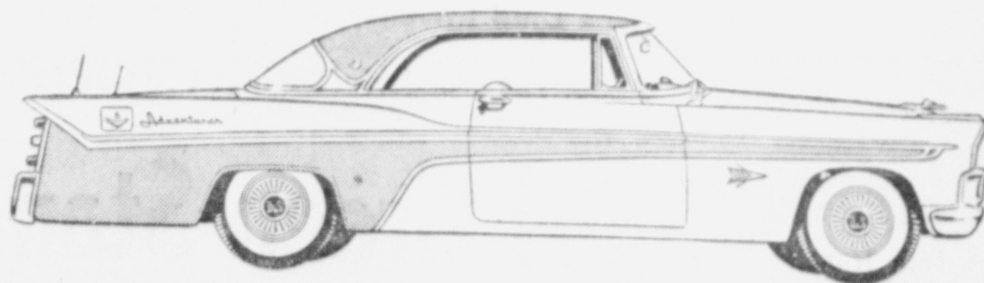

Although the number of U. S. heart disease deaths per 100,000 people declined from 1931 to 1955, the number of deaths from other causes decreased more rapidly so that the proportion of heart disease deaths to total deaths was increased.

And it is to be expected that despite the sealing of the files and the refusal to testify, the Democrats will continue to dig in the hope of proving that the Republican party and not the Democratic party is the party of treason. Or maybe, some corruption will be found, and corruption is these days juicier than treason and much more interesting. At any rate, we can expect that whatever becomes available will be disclosed.

The question does arise as to what will be done about the great issues which not only face but beset the American people. Neither party can say very much about NATO, SEATO or METO because both pursued the same foreign policies which brought these international alliances into being and if we analyze the whole range of foreign relations very closely, we are at best functioning under

Harry Truman's "containment policy," with the Russians skillfully hopping across the lowered Iron Curtain into the territory which we designated as ours. We think this subject will be avoided during the campaign, as will the verities of our Middle Eastern oil policy except in the northeastern states where the Jewish voters are more numerous than the Arab and Syrian voters put together. The Arabs only have oil, but in a presidential election year, it is votes that count, as every politician knows.

Why did they have to send those tanks to Saudi Arabia from Brooklyn? Could they not find a port where such cargo for such a purpose would not be so offensive or is there nobody left in the State Department who knows what the composition of Brooklyn's population is? Do the Republicans expect to get any votes in Brooklyn?

So, the campaign will move in all these directions and until about the middle of October, nobody will have much of an idea of how it is going. The pollsters will continue to prove what everybody admits, namely, that Eisenhower is popular but the whole situation is so complicated by the President's own acceptance speech that it is now a doubtful election.

Steam Kettle Still Is Best Humidifier

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN
New developments are not always the best.

Modern cold-air mechanical humidifiers, for example are valuable adjuncts to certain therapy. But for treating respiratory disorders in children, many physicians prefer the old steam kettle or other devices using the same principle.

The purpose of both cold-air humidifiers and steam kettles, when used for relieving such disorders, is to increase the amount of moisture in the air.

Breathing Passages

Moist air helps prevent blocking of breathing passages which occurs in many cases of respiratory inflammation.

The air you breathe, of course, enters your respiratory tract at room temperature and humidity. It absorbs moisture from the membranes which line the passages on its way to your lungs. When it is exhaled, it is saturated with water and has attained body temperature.

Loss of Water

When the temperature and humidity of the inhaled air is lower than the exhaled air, there is a continuous loss of water from the respiratory tract. The drier the inhaled air, the quicker it dries up the membranes.

In cases of acute respiratory disease, this loss of moisture is increased. Eventually the breathing passages may be blocked by dry crusts forming on the membranes.

Dr. Abraham Friedman, a physician from Haifa, Israel, explains the process very well in a recent American Medical Association publication.

To prevent this obstruction, he points out, the air you breathe in must be as moist as the air you breathe out. Thus, temperature and humidity of inhaled air should be about equal to that of the exhaled air.

Specific Temperature

There is a limit to the amount of water air will hold at a specific temperature. To increase the water content, the temperature must be raised.

While mechanical humidifiers may raise the water content, the lower temperature air cannot hold as much water as air of higher temperature. A steam kettle, however, increases both temperature and total water content.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

A Reader: What causes fever blisters to appear?

Answer: Fever blisters are caused by a germ too small to be seen with the ordinary microscope. Often, fever blisters occur following infection or injury.

The Nation Today

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The special eight-man committee picked by the Senate to investigate lobbying has its work cut out for it. The big question is: Will it do its work?

There are four Democrats and four Republicans on this committee. If they play politics on the direction the investigation takes, splitting along party lines, there won't be much investigation.

They've already shown signs of party splitting. From the time they were appointed Feb. 23 until Saturday they were so badly divided they couldn't agree on rules for doing business.

Now they have agreed — with Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.) as chairman and Sen. Bridges (R-NH) as vice chairman — But the kind of agreement they made leaves the door open for party splits and paralysis.

McClellan as chairman may issue subpoenas for witnesses, documents and records but only after telling Bridges what he intends to do.

If Bridges objects, then the problems must be submitted to the full committee for solution. Any time they split on party lines, there probably will be no solution and no action.

The chief counsel and other staff employees of the committee will be hired only after majority approval. Once again a 4-4 party split could wreck even this elementary effort to get started.

This is going to be an interesting committee to watch, whether it does a real job, shadow boxes or blows up in confusion. This is an election year and a real investigation might cause political explosions.

This committee will not have time for a thorough study of the whole field of lobbying in the time given it. The Senate instructed the committee to finish its job by next Jan. 31.

Just getting a staff together, and then letting the staff dig into the field and prepare the groundwork for public hearings, will take a lot of time. McClellan says now he can't tell when the inquiry will begin.

U. S. Employment Slipping, But Still Remains Above '55

WASHINGTON (AP)—Employment slipped by 314,000 in February to a total of 62,577,000 because of wintry weather and "sizeable layoffs" in the auto industry, the Commerce and Labor departments report.

Automotive employment dropped 85,000 from January, the monthly report showed, and the resulting production cut was reflected in layoffs in industries supplying the motor companies, including metal and rubber.

However, unemployment across the nation remained virtually unchanged at 2,914,000. Joblessness was up only 29,000 for the month, a barely perceptible change statistically speaking.

The joint statement said most of the persons who left seasonal jobs withdrew from the labor market instead of seeking other work. They were not counted as unemployed.

Despite the employment dip, the number of jobholders remained about 2½ million above the level of February 1955. Unemployment was 469,000 below a year ago.

Non-farm employment still stood in February at a record for the month, roughly 4 per cent above February 1955.

Factory job, numbering 16,800,000 in February, were down 60,000 instead of showing the usual small seasonal upturn. A larger-than-seasonal increase in the machinery industry, however, offset part of the decline in autos. Over the year, factory employment was up more than 700,000 and the chemicals, printing and primary metals industries were at all-time peaks for the month.

The factory work week averaged 40.6 hours as in January.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Employment Security reported that scattered layoffs in the auto industry in the week ended March 3 raised to more than 100,000 the number of workers in auto assembly and supplies plants who have been laid off since Jan. 1 in seven key states.

The largest new layoff was in Indiana, where 8,000 auto assembly workers were released for a week, and the second largest involved 1,600 workers in Michigan.

The bureau's tabulations showed that more than two-thirds of the auto workers currently laid off are in Michigan, 83 per cent of these being in the Detroit area. "Significant" auto unemployment exists in Indiana, Ohio and New York, the report stated, but some are unemployed also in Illinois, California and Wisconsin.

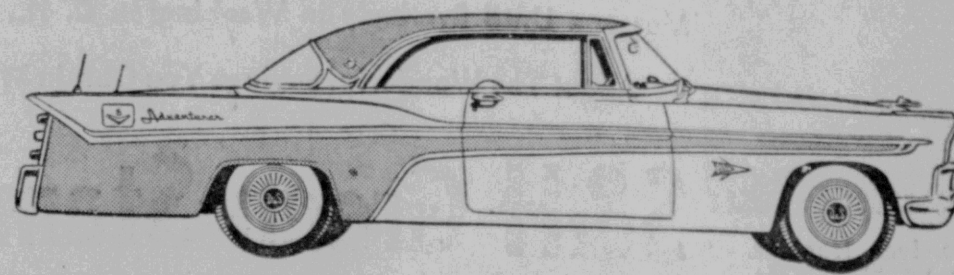

Although the number of U. S. heart disease deaths per 100,000 people declined from 1931 to 1955, the number of deaths from other causes decreased more rapidly so that the proportion of heart disease deaths to total deaths was increased.

Social Security Advice Offered

Partial Retirement At 65 Permissible

More than one Fayette Countian over 65 is drawing social security payments even though he still holds a job.

And it's perfectly legal, according to the C. C. Darby district manager of the Columbus social security office. "You don't have to retire completely to start drawing your social security benefits after age 65," Darby said.

Darby explained that the latest amendments to the Social Security Act permit earnings up to $1,200 in a calendar year before any benefits are lost even if you work in all months of the year. Even if you earn more than $1,200, some payments can be made if your total earnings for the year are not over $2,080. You lose one month's benefit for each $80 he earns over $1,200 during the year. Darby pointed out that the new provision enables the worker to take a part time job or one involving less responsibility. In this way, he can keep busy and at the same time supplement his social security benefits.

Before 1955, $3,600 was the top amount that taxed for social security purposes.

Starting with January 1, 1955, the maximum taxable salary was raised to $4,200, with the social security tax payable on all amounts up to that figure.

Workers should check their W-2's carefully to make certain that they have received credit for all wages up to the amount of $4,200 in 1955 and that the correct amount of social security tax has been withheld, Darby advised.

It is advisable, too, for workers to examine the W-2 and make sure their name and account number is exactly the same as it is on their social security account number card. Any differences should be reported promptly to the employer, so that he can make the necessary corrections in his records.

If you were paid $4,200 or more in 1955 from any one employer, the W-2 statement from your employer should show $4,200 as F. I. C. A. (social security) wages, Darby said. If you were paid less than $4,200 all your wages should be reported as F. I. C. A. wages on your W-2.

In the event you work for more than one employer during 1955, the maximum credit of $4,200 still applies. If the total wages on the W-2's are more than $4,200 and more than $84.00 was deducted from your wages for F. I. C. A. (Social Security) taxes, you can receive a credit of the overpaid taxes by reporting the excess F. I. C. A. tax on your annual income tax return—form 1040.

New Penny Tax Law Seen Helping Ohio

Eastern State Line Residents May Start Buying At Home Now

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Officials expect Pennsylvania's new sales tax to boost Ohio's already record high revenues from a similar levy.

They figure it will work like this: Discourage Ohioans living near the border or touring in that state from ducking the Ohio tax by making purchases in Pennsylvania.

Encourage Ohio and Pennsylvania authorities to exchange information that will help tighten tax collections in both states.

Although both states now have a tax averaging 3 per cent on retail sales, Pennsylvania's levy actually is stiffer.

That's because the Pennsylvania tax applies on purchases of more than 10 cents while Ohio's begins after 40 cents.

Pennsylvania expects its tax to yield about 300 million dollars a year. Ohio collections from its biggest single revenue raiser exceeded 207 millions last year and are running ahead of that rate this year.

Officials said Ohioans who formerly made purchases in Pennsylvania to avoid Ohio's sales tax now would find it more profitable to buy at home. Some expected Ohio to reap considerable tax benefit as a result; others felt the increase would be slight.

The Pennsylvania enactment this week nearly completed a ring of states with sales taxes or their equivalent about Ohio. Michigan has a 3 per cent tax and West Virginia a 2 per cent levy. Indiana's tax is well hidden in the price of goods, leaving only neighboring Kentucky without such a tax.

Officials explained that Ohio's sales tax applies to non-exempt purchases used in this state. Purchases sent outside the state for use elsewhere are exempt.

Outside purchases shipped into Ohio are subject to the same tax but in such cases it is called a use tax. The state adds eight to nine million dollars in use taxes annually to its sales tax total.

Authorities said they can enforce compliance with Ohio sales tax laws by outside firms with stores or outlets in Ohio, such as mail order companies. But they said most large concerns outside the reach of Ohio's tax law help collect the levy as a matter of good business practice.

Ohio authorizes officials to exchange tax information with other states to aid enforcement. Such exchanges, they said, helped halt former widespread shipments of cigarettes to Ohio purchasers from other states to dodge sales taxes.

Ohio has agreements with several states to exchange information on excise taxes. Tax Commissioner Stanley Bowers said such an exchange of sales tax information might develop between Ohio and Pennsylvania.

Bowers will address a meeting of Pennsylvania Chamber of Commerce members in Philadelphia next April 11. The statewide organization of businessmen invited Bowers to explain the workings of Ohio's sales tax that started in 1935.

Sunday Work Brings Strike For Railroad

CINCINNATI (AP) — President George M. Harrison of the Railway and Shipping Clerks' Union says an altered New York Central (NYC) work schedule for Sundays caused a work stoppage Sunday at the railroad's Utica, N. Y., freight terminal.

Harrison said last night the union freight handlers "will be back on their jobs tomorrow, ready to go to work."

He said the action Sunday was in protest over NYC efforts to integrate Sunday as a regular work day instead of paying men time-and-a-half for Sunday work, as has been the practice up to now.

The work stoppage also affected central terminals at Syracuse, Buffalo, Gibson, Ind., Cleveland and Detroit.

Railroad officials said that they will seek a temporary injunction in federal court in Cleveland if the union continues the stoppage today.

A NYC spokesman said the railroad is ready to seek a temporary injunction and later a permanent court order if the work stoppage causes "any semblance of harm to the operation or to the public interest."

Harrison said he did not know directly of the Utica work stoppage, but that the union told members if the NYC "did set up that schedule, not to work."

The union president said that under the contract with NYC, men are scheduled for a Monday to Friday or Tuesday to Saturday work week, and, if called to work Sunday, are paid time-and-a-half.

Farm Worker's Relatives Sought

CARROLLTON, Ohio (AP) — Relatives of Ignace Nowak, a farm worker who had no home but had two bank accounts, were being sought by county officials today.

Nowak's body was found Friday beside a campfire near Magnolia. Death was due to natural causes, authorities said.

Two bank deposit books and $210

were rolled tightly in a tobacco bag pinned inside his underwear, Sheriff Richard Beamer said. The bank books showed balances of $961 in the Farmers Merchant & Exchange Bank in Smithville, Wayne County, and $149 in the National City Bank of Cleveland.

Beamer said Nowak, about 70, had worked on a potato farm near Smithville last summer.

Cincy Extortion Attempt Probed

CINCINNATI (AP)—Police of Cincinnati and suburban Indian Hill continued investigation today of a $10,000 extortion attempt against James M. Hutton III, Cincinnati stockbroker.

The stockbroker said he was told to carry the money with him while conducting normal business affairs on Tuesday, March, and the caller would contact him during the day.

Hutton said he was not approached or called by the man. City detectives followed him during the Tuesday specified, but neither they nor Hutton would say if the stockbroker carried the money with him.

NEW YORK'S first talking mailbox is unveiled on sidewalk near Grand Central station, with Shirley Goldstein of London "playing postoffice" while Postmaster Robert H. Schaffer explains the mystery. No buttons or microphones or buzzers—you just ask a question about the mails and a voice gives you the answer. The box has a tiny two-way communications system and actually a postal employee in an office does the answering. But just mail questions, nothing personal or political. New Pennsy Tax Law Seen Helping Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Officials expect Pennsylvania's new sales tax to boost Ohio's already record high revenues from a similar levy.

They figure it will work like this: Discourage Ohioans living near the border or touring in that state from ducking the Ohio tax by making purchases in Pennsylvania.

Encourage Ohio and Pennsylvania authorities to exchange information that will help tighten tax collections in both states.

Although both states now have a tax averaging 3 per cent on retail sales, Pennsylvania's levy actually is stiffer.

That's because the Pennsylvania tax applies on purchases of more than 10 cents while Ohio's begins after 40 cents.

Pennsylvania expects its tax to yield about 300 million dollars a year. Ohio collections from its biggest single revenue raiser exceeded 207 millions last year and are running ahead of that rate this year.

Officials said Ohioans who formerly made purchases in Pennsylvania to avoid Ohio's sales tax now would find it more profitable to buy at home. Some expected Ohio to reap considerable tax benefit as a result; others felt the increase would be slight.

The Pennsylvania enactment this week nearly completed a ring of states with sales taxes or their equivalent about Ohio. Michigan has a 3 per cent tax and West Virginia a 2 per cent levy. Indiana's tax is well hidden in the price of goods, leaving only neighboring Kentucky without such a tax.

Officials explained that Ohio's sales tax applies to non-exempt purchases used in this state. Purchases sent outside the state for use elsewhere are exempt.

Outside purchases shipped into Ohio are subject to the same tax but in such cases it is called a use tax. The state adds eight to nine million dollars in use taxes annually to its sales tax total.

Authorities said they can enforce compliance with Ohio sales tax laws by outside firms with stores or outlets in Ohio, such as mail order companies. But they said most large concerns outside the reach of Ohio's tax law help collect the levy as a matter of good business practice.

Ohio authorizes officials to exchange tax information with other states to aid enforcement. Such exchanges, they said, helped halt former widespread shipments of cigarettes to Ohio purchasers from other states to dodge sales taxes.

Ohio has agreements with several states to exchange information on excise taxes. Tax Commissioner Stanley Bowers said such an exchange of sales tax information might develop between Ohio and Pennsylvania.

Bowers will address a meeting of Pennsylvania Chamber of Commerce members in Philadelphia next April 11. The statewide organization of businessmen invited Bowers to explain the workings of Ohio's sales tax that started in 1935.

Sunday Work Brings Strike For Railroad

CINCINNATI (AP)—President George M. Harrison of the Railway and Shipping Clerks' Union says an altered New York Central (NYC) work schedule for Sundays caused a work stoppage Sunday at the railroad's Utica, N. Y. freight terminal.

Harrison said last night the union freight handlers "will be back on their jobs tomorrow, ready to go to work."

He said the action Sunday was in protest over NYC efforts to integrate Sunday as a regular work day instead of paying men time-and-a-half for Sunday work, as has been the practice up to now.

The work stoppage also affected central terminals at Syracuse, Buffalo, Gibson, Ind., Cleveland and Detroit.

Railroad officials said that they will seek a temporary injunction in federal court in Cleveland if the union continues the stoppage today.

A NYC spokesman said the railroad is ready to seek a temporary injunction and later a permanent court order if the work stoppage causes "any semblance of harm to the operation or to the public interest."

Harrison said he did not know directly of the Utica work stoppage, but that the union told members if the NYC "did set up that schedule, not to work."

The union president said that under the contract with NYC, men are scheduled for a Monday to Friday or Tuesday to Saturday work week, and, if called to work Sunday, are paid time-and-a-half.

Farm Worker's Relatives Sought

CARROLLTON, Ohio (AP)—Relatives of Ignace Nowak, a farm worker who had no home but had two bank accounts, were being sought by county officials today.

Nowak's body was found Friday beside a campfire near Magnolia. Death was due to natural causes, authorities said.

Two bank deposit books and $210

were rolled tightly in a tobacco bag pinned inside his underwear, Sheriff Richard Beamer said. The bank books showed balances of $961 in the Farmers Merchant & Exchange Bank in Smithville, Wayne County, and $149 in the National City Bank of Cleveland.

Beamer said Nowak, about 70, had worked on a potato farm near Smithville last summer.

Cincy Extortion Attempt Probed

CINCINNATI (AP)—Police of Cincinnati and suburban Indian Hill continued investigation today of a $10,000 extortion attempt against James M. Hutton III, Cincinnati stockbroker.

Hutton said Sunday a man called his home twice last March 1 and again March 3 threatening to harm his daughter, Marianne, seven months old, if the sum was not forthcoming.

The stockbroker said he was told to carry the money with him while conducting normal business affairs on Tuesday, March, and the caller would contact him during the day.

Hutton said he was not approached or called by the man. City detectives followed him during the Tuesday specified, but neither they nor Hutton would say if the stockbroker carried the money with him.

A skating party planned for March 26 will honor three new members and the meeting was adjourned with the M.Y.F. Benediction.

Refreshments were served by Lana Fisher and Mrs. Martha Pavey.

Middies Set For Next Step In Tournament

Sixth Class A Crown Is Goal; List Of Teams Diminishing Rapidly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Middle-town's top-ranked Middies, gunning for an unprecedented sixth class A high school basketball title, meet Portsmouth's 1931 champions Friday at Cincinnati in the feature of the weekend's regional tournaments.

Middletown toppled the Trojans twice during the regular campaign in piling up a 21-0 record as Portsmouth compiled a 16-6 mark. No matter which team wins, the victor probably will have to face Cincinnati Hughes in Saturday's final.

Last year Hughes defeated Both Portsmouth and Middletown in the regional, and went on to the state finals as runner-up to Zanesville, Hughes (20-3) is favored over Troy (16-6) in the other Friday semifinal.

With 1020 of the state's 1052 teams eliminated in the fast and furious tournament play, the remaining 16 class A and 16 class B squads will battle it out this weekend for four state tourney berths in each division. The state meet is March 23-24 at Cleveland.

Besides Middletown and Portsmouth, the lone former champion in the class A field is Martins Ferry, the 1941 victor, which hangs into Canton McKinley's giant killers Friday in the Canton Regional. McKinley, with an 18-3 record, has toppled Canton Timken and Akron South, the seventh and sixth-ranked teams in the final Associated Press poll, in tournament play.

McKinley, coached by astute Herman (Rup) Reckard, ended Akron South's 18-game unbeaten streak by a single point Saturday night. The Canton club is the tournament hard-luck team, however. Four times the Bulldogs, currently the state gridiron champions, have advanced to the state tourney finals. Four times they've lost.

Four unbeaten teams—Middletown, Cleveland East Tech, Canton South and St. Marks Memorial—roared into the regional classics in class A, and they are in different meets. Should all come through, the state tourney would have its first all-victorious cast in history. None of the 1955 regional teams was unbeaten.

Class B has three undefeated squads in Willshire—the best in the state by the sports writers—Glenford and South Zanesville. The latter two are in the Athens regional, from which only one can reach the state tourney—and even then they must contend with Columbus St. Mary's fourth-ranked team (21-1) and New Boston (19-4).

Lockland Wayne, state class B king in 1952 and 1953, and runner-up in 1949, carries a 15-10 mark—poorest of the 16 contenders—into the Troy regional. Coach Joe Martin's Rulers tangle Friday with Marysville (20-2) in their opening attempt to hang on to the title.

Bob Games' Willshire team, runner-up to Lockland Wayne last spring at Cincinnati, went into the Toledo Regional with a 25-0 record this time, repeating last year's unbroken string which had reached 27 at this stage. Willshire ran it to 30-0 before losing to Lockland Wayne, so Games' stalwarts, led by huge Gary Kesler, have triumphed in 53 of their last 56 contests.

Of the top 10 teams in the final Associated Press poll, Middletown, Canton South, Canton McKinley, Cleveland East Tech, St. Mary's Memorial and Toledo Macomber are still on deck in class A, and Willshire, Troy-Luckey, Columbus St. Mary, Sycamore and Glenford in class B.

Some of them must fall this weekend, with not more than two of the class B elite, and four in class A, with a chance to make it to the state meet. Willshire, Troy-Luckey and Sycamore are in the Toledo class B regional, and Columbus St. Marys and Glenford in the Athens meet. Troy-Luckey (3) and Sycamore (7) meet Thursday in the first round.

In class A, Toledo Macomber (10) and St. Marys Memorial (9) clash at Toledo in Friday's opening game, and Canton South (3) and Canton McKinley (4) are among the quartet in the Canton regional.

This year's class A regionalists have a record of 278 victories and 62 losses, against last year's 294-59. In class B the current crop has won 334 and lost 55, as compared with the 1955 record of 388 victories and only 28 defeats.

The class B firing opens Thursday at Toledo and Athens, but all the other games in each class will be played Friday and Saturday. Toledo will name its class B finalist Saturday afternoon, but all the other state tourney entrants will be chosen Saturday night.

Student-Faculty Cage Game at WHS Tuesday

A faculty-student basketball game, with admission proceeds to go toward a student scholarship, will be played 7 P. M. Tuesday at the Washington C. H. High School gym.

The high school Student Council is sponsoring the game, with student players from the intramurals teams and faculty players drawn from the city Board of Education, high school and elementary school teaching staff.

The net profits will be used to bolster an annual $100 Student Council college tuition-aid scholarship for one of the seniors graduating this spring.

Boys taking part in the faculty-student match will be seniors who played in the intramural cage games. With about 30 senior boys taking part in intramurals, ten were elected by the boys to play the teachers.

The other twenty seniors will start the evening's activity with a pre-feature match.

To add to the evening's bill, an exhibition of tumbling will be put on between games by some of coach Fed Domenico's gym stars.

Two varsity basketball players, David Lee and John Sommers, will be coaching the intramurals players.

The ten seniors playing the faculty will be Bob Swackhamer, Dan Schlichter, Dick Anders, Larry Anderson, Roger Sollars, Jim Armour, Hugh Lentz, Bob Crouse, Alvin Carroll and Jim Bryant.

David Carter was elected captain of one of squads scheduled to play the first game of the evening. Playing with David will be Larry Fisher, Bob Detweiler, Paul Hughes, Bob Cotner, Dave Pettit, Dean Morrow, Pat O'Connor, Jack Groff, Ronnie Kelley and David Hunter.

Playing in the first game of the evening under captain Ronnie Whitaker will be Dave Grooms, Larry Barchet, Don Bishop, Larry Parrett, Bob Foster, Bob Stackhouse, Wayne Rehm, Don Ross and Kenneth Stewart.

Basilio Gets Favorite Role Over Saxton

CHICAGO (AP)—Carmen Basilio, unbeaten in his last 15 fights, rules a 9-5 favorite to retain his welterweight title against former champ Johnny Saxton at Chicago Stadium Wednesday night.

Both tapered off in drills today and looked sharp for the nationally televised 15-rounder starting at 10 p. m. EST.

A crowd of 10,000 contributing to a $75,000 gate is expected. TV Radio proceeds will add another $50,000. The fighters divide the net equally on a 30-30 basis.

Basilio was a 2-1 choice until the odds slipped over the weekend and one observer looked for an 8-5 line by fight time.

Basilio, who will be 29 April 2, hasn't lost since he failed to lift the 147-pound title from Kid Gavilan before a Syracuse hometown crowd Sept. 18, 1953.

After that he knocked out Johnny Cunningham in four, fought two successive draws with Pierre Langlois and Italo Scorticini, then won 12 in a row.

He stopped Tony DeMarco in a sizzling 12 rounds to capture the crown at Syracuse last June 10, then defeated Scorticini and Gil Turner before again kayoing DeMarco in a title defense Nov. 30 at Boston.

That was Basilio's last start. He's boxed more than 120 rounds in preparing for 25-year-old Saxton.

Saxton and Carmen never have fought before. The powerfully-built Brooklyn brawler won the welterweight championship from Gavilan in Philadelphia on Oct. 20, 1954. He lost it to DeMarco April 1, 1955.

WHS Athletes Get Set For Track and Baseball

Now that they have already claimed the SCO League crowns—in football and basketball—the athletes of Washington C. H. High School today are drawing a bead on two more league titles.

Monday afternoon after school, both the track and baseball squads will start working easily to get kinks out of muscles.

Baseball hopefuls are scheduled to start tossing the ball around in the WHS gym to loosen up muscles unused since the end of baseball season early last summer.

And the trackmen are to work out in the gym, too, providing there is no break in the damp weather.

Baseball mentor will be Herb Russell, who just finished piloting

his cagers to a league championship. The track coaching duties will be split between Fred Domenico, head football coach, and Dick Filbin, who assisted Domenico on the grid chores.

Between them, Domenico and Filbin led the WHS gridders from nowhere at the season's start to a league championship at it end.

THE ATHLETES won't be doing all the shifting of gears from one sport to another.

Wednesday evening, representatives of the league schools will meet in Circleville to iron out baseball and track schedules, put the basketball season to official rest until next winter and decide whether or not the league will sponsor official golf and tennis meets.

The status of golf and tennis at WHS is indefinite right now, according to Clyde Cramer, faculty athletics manager. If the league decides not to make the two sports official this year, there may be no formal teams here, he said.

The SCO dinner meeting will bring Washington C. H. its second title award of this school year. The last league meeting brought WHS the football title and a check to buy a trophy. The same procedure will be observed at this meeting—same check, same purpose, same school.

The allowance to buy a basketball trophy will be $20, Cramer said.

Meantime, as league officials planned schedules, the slap of baseballs into mitts and the grunts of winter-weary trackmen starting calisthenics proved it conclusively: spring is here!

Avila Promises Top Bat Average

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Second baseman Bob Avila, who arrived at the Cleveland Indians spring training camp almost two weeks late after holding out for the same pay he received last year, says he will hit better than he did last season.

He batted .325 in the Mexican League and feels today he will hit .300 or better with the Indians this season. His average dropped to .272 last year after he won the American League batting title with a .341 in 1954.

The Indians get away from Willie Mays and the New York Giants in an attempt today to pick up their first victory of the grapefruit season. Mays homered twice against the Indians Saturday as the Giants won 7-3 and added a roundtripper yesterday during an 11-0 rout Cleveland battles the Chicago Cubs here.

2 NBA Playoff Spots Still Open

NEW YORK (AP)—Three days before the end of the National Basketball Assn.'s regular season, two playoff spots are still up for grabs with the battle for the third and last position in the eastern division a nip and tuck affair between Syracuse and New York.

While Philadelphia and Boston have locked up the first two places, respectively, Syracuse and New York are tied, each with 34-36 records. Each has two games remaining before the season ends Wednesday night.

In the western division, the Fort Wayne Pistons have been in as the champions for several days.

Santee Awaiting Cleveland Test

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Miler Wes Santee, facing trial Thursday in his battle against professionalism charges by the Amateur Athletic Union, plans to run next Saturday in Cleveland's Knights of Columbus Games.

"My plans are to run in Cleveland, no matter how my trial comes out," the former Kansas State star declared Saturday night after winning his section of the Journal feature mile in 4:10.5.

The 24-year-old Marine lieutenant is under a lifetime suspension by the AAU, which ruled he accepted excessive expense money in meets last year. He blocked enforcement of the suspension by securing an injunction that was twice upheld against the AAU.

Rainfall Delays Pensacola Open

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP)—The touring golf professionals try again today to wind up the rain-disrupted Pensacola Open.

Officials were forced to postpone the final round of the 72-hole medal play tournament yesterday after a 2.24-inch morning rain inundated the Pensacola Country Club.

Many of the pros packed up and headed for St. Petersburg, Fla., where the next open tournament begins Thursday. But the low scorers, headed by Don Fairfield, stayed over for a crack at the $12,500 in prizes.

nalist Saturday afternoon, but all the other state tourney entrants will be chosen Saturday night.

Big Bill Uhl Voted As Top Ohio College Cage Player

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Big Bill Uhl, Dayton's seven-foot center, today out-voted everyone in the state as coaches and sports writers picked the 1955-56 All-Ohio college basketball team for The Associated Press.

The 245-pound Uhl, senior from Greenfield, thus won the captaincy of the honorary squad which included nine players from Ohio's independent colleges and six from the Mid-American and Ohio Conferences.

With Uhl on the first team were Jim Paxson, his teammate from Springfield; Phil Wheeler, Cincinnati Bearcat high scorer; Jim Ray of Toledo, the No. 1 point-getter in the Mid-American; and Jim Boothe of Xavier, the only junior on the team, who is only 5-7 tall and weighs 144.

All the others are over six feet, giving the squad an average height of about 6-4 although Boothe is almost a foot under that figure.

The first team, against some of the country's best opposition, averaged about 95 points per game with Ray at 25.5, Wheeler 21.1, Boothe and Uhl just over 16, and Paxson—Dayton's play-maker and sparkplug—at 15.

Only Ohio State, of the 40 Buckeye colleges, was not considered in the all-state selections. Here are the all-stars:

First team: Jim Paxson, Dayton, Phil Wheeler, Cincinnati, Bill Uhl, Dayton, Jim Boothe, Xavier, and Jim Ray, Toledo.

Second team: Paul Brownlee, Steubenville, Mike Harkins, Akron, Dave Pointek, Xavier, Tony Knott, Youngs-

Suggs Captures Augusta Laurels

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Little Louise Suggs earned her third Titleholders crown the hard way, by whipping 44 of the nation's best women golfers.

The Sea Island, Ga., professional pocketed $900 yesterday after edging 38-year-old Patty Berg, the defending champion from St. Andrews, Ill., by one stroke in the 72-hole tournament. Miss Berg collected $675.

Each covered the final 18 holes on the hilly 6,270-yard Augusta Country Club course in 74 strokes, 1 under women's par. Miss Suggs had a 78-75-75-74—302 card. Miss Berg shot a 79-77-73-74—303.

Eddie Joe Buck, a catcher getting a trial with the Boston Red Sox this spring, holds a degree in agricultural economics from Oklahoma A & M.

During his college days in the early 1920's, Wyoming Gov. Milward L. Simpson captained the University of Wyoming football, basketball and baseball teams.

Rookie Hurler May Help Reds

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Four rookies from Columbia of the class A Sally League are working out with the Cincinnati Redlegs this spring and Ernie White, their old manager, thinks pitcher Charley Rabe is the best prospect.

"He can't miss," White said yesterday. "He's got everything, including what I consider most important—a good stomach."

White, who managed Columbia for five years until moving up to Nashville in the Southern Assn., wasn't so sure about the other Columbians—outfielder Frank Robinson and pitchers Don Gross and Johnny Brechin Jr.

"All I can say is they played great ball for me and hustled like fools," he said.

Small College Cage Tourney Gets Start

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The 18th national intercollegiate (NAIA) basketball tournament, a dizzy scramble by 32 of the country's best small college teams, opened today with its field packed with outstanding entries.

Coe College (20-4) of Cedar Rapids, Ia., and Stephen F. Austin (21-5) of Nacogdoches, Tex. started the six-day marathon.

Eight games, four afternoon and four night, are scheduled through Wednesday. The championship will be decided Saturday.

Top seeded and with exactly the same players that carried it to third place in the tournament last year is Western Illinois of Macomb. The Illinois team, featuring Lupe Rios, comes up to the meet with a 26-2 record.

Among the other more highly regarded teams and the order of their seeding are Geneva, Beaver Falls, Pa. (23-2); Wheaton (Ill.) (26-3), and McNeese, Lake Charles, La. (38-2).

Wheaton became a surprise element in the tournament when it was certified late Saturday to replace Delta State of Cleveland, Miss., which withdrew as Alabama-Mississippi representative because of racial tension.

Wheaton lost in the Illinois district playoff by one point to Western Illinois and was promptly given the third place rating.

Middletown topped the Trojans twice during the regular campaign in piling up a 21-0 record as Portsmouth compiled a 16-6 mark. No matter which team wins, the victor probably will have to face Cincinnati Hughes in Saturday's final.

Last year Hughes defeated Both Portsmouth and Middletown in the regional, and went on to the state finals as runnerup to Zanesville. Hughes (20-3) is favored over Troy (16-6) in the other Friday semifinal.

With 1020 of the state's 1052 teams eliminated in the fast and furious tournament play, the remaining 16 class A and 16 class B squads will battle it out this weekend for four state tourney berths in each division. The state meet is March 23-24 at Cleveland.

Besides Middletown and Portsmouth, the lone former champion in the class A field is Martins Ferry, the 1941 victor, which hangs into Canton McKinley's giant killers Friday in the Canton Regional. McKinley, with an 18-3 record, has topped Canton Timken and Akron South, the seventh and sixth-ranked teams in the final Associated Press poll, in tournament play.

McKinley, coached by astute Herman (Bup) Rearick, ended Akron South's 18-game unbeaten streak by a single point Saturday night. The Canton club is the tournament hard-luck team, however. Four times the Bulldogs, currently the state gridiron champions, have advanced to the state tourney finals. Four times they've lost.

Four unbeaten teams—Middletown, Cleveland East Tech, Canton South and St. Marks Memorial—roared into the regional classics in class A, and they are in different moods. Should all come through, the state tourney would have its first all-victorious cast in history. None of the 1955 regional teams was unbeaten.

Class B has three undefeated squads in Willshire—rated the best in the state by the sports writers—Glenford and South Zanesville. The latter two are in the Athens regional, from which only one can reach the state tourney—and even there they must contend with Columbus St. Mary's fourth-ranked team (21-1) and New Boston (19-4).

Lockland Wayne, state class B king in 1952 and 1953, and runner-up in 1949, carries a 15-10 mark—poorest of the 16 contenders—into the Troy regional. Coach Joe Martin's Rulers tangle Friday with Marysville (20-2) in their opening attempt to hang on to the title.

Bob Games' Willshire team, runner-up to Lockland Wayne last spring at Cincinnati, went into the Toledo Regional with a 25-0 record this time, repeating last year's unbroken string which had reached 27 at this stage. Willshire ran it to 30-0 before losing to Lockland Wayne, so Games' stalwarts, led by huge Gary Kesler, have triumphed in 55 of their last 56 contests.

Of the top 10 teams in the final Associated Press poll, Middletown, Canton South, Canton McKinley, Cleveland East Tech, St. Marys Memorial and Toledo Macomber are still on deck in class A, and Willshire, Troy-Lucky, Columbus St. Mary, Sycamore and Glenford in class B.

Some of them must fall this weekend, with not more than two of the class B elite, and four in class A, with a chance to make it to the state meet. Willshire, Troy-Lucky and Sycamore are in the Toledo class B regional, and Columbus St. Marys and Glenford in the Athens meet. Troy-Lucky (3) and Sycamore (7) meet Thursday in the first round.

In class A, Toledo Macomber (10) and St. Marys Memorial (9) clash at Toledo in Friday's opening game, and Canton South (3) and Canton McKinley (4) are among the quartet in the Canton regional.

This year's class A regionalists have a record of 278 victories and 63 losses, against last year's 294-59. In class B the current crop has won 334 and lost 55, as compared with the 1955 record of 388 victories and only 28 defeats.

The class B firing opens Thursday at Toledo and Athens, but all the other games in each class will be played Friday and Saturday. Toledo will name its class B fi-

Student-Faculty Cage Game at WHS Tuesday

A faculty-student basketball game, with admission proceeds to go toward a student scholarship, will be played 7 P. M. Tuesday at the Washington C. H. High School gym.

The high school Student Council is sponsoring the game, with student players from the intramurals teams and faculty players drawn from the city Board of Education, high school and elementary school teaching staff.

The net profits will be used to bolster an annual $100 Student Council college tuition-aid scholarship for one of the seniors graduating this spring.

Boys taking part in the faculty-student match will be seniors who played in the intramural cage games. With about 30 senior boys taking part in intramurals, ten were elected by the boys to play the teachers.

The other twenty seniors will start the evening's activity with a pre-feature match.

To add to the evening's bill, an exhibition of tumbling will be put on between games by some of coach Fed Domenico's gym stars. Two varsity basketball players, David Lee and John Sommers, will be coaching the intramurals players.

The ten seniors playing the faculty will be Bob Swackhamer, Dan Schlichter, Dick Anders, Larry Anderson, Roger Sollars, Jim Armour, Hugh Lentz, Bob Crouse, Alvin Carroll and Jim Bryant.

David Carter was elected captain of one of squads scheduled to play the first game of the evening. Playing with David will be Larry Fisher, Bob Detweiler, Paul Hughes, Bob Cotnar, Dave Pettit, Dean Morrow, Pat O'Connor, Jack Groff, Ronnie Kelley and David Hunter.

Playing in the first game of the evening under captain Ronnie Whitaker will be Dave Grooms, Larry Barchett, Don Bishop, Larry Parrett, Bob Foster, Bob Stackhouse, Wayne Rehm, Don Ross and Kenneth Stewart.

Basilio Gets Favorite Role Over Saxton

CHICAGO (AP)—Carmen Basilio, unbeaten in his last 15 fights, rules a 9-5 favorite to retain his welterweight title against former champ Johnny Saxton at Chicago Stadium Wednesday night.

Both tapered off in drills today and looked sharp for the nationally televised 15-rounder starting at 10 p. m. EST.

A crowd of 10,000 contributing to a $75,000 gate is expected. TV. Radio proceeds will add another $50,000. The fighters divide the net equally on a 30-30 basis.

Basilio was a 2-1 choice until the odds slipped over the weekend and one observer looked for an 8-5 line by fight time.

Basilio, who will be 29 April 2, hasn't lost since he failed to lift the 147-pound title from Kid Gavilan before a Syracuse hometown crowd Sept. 18, 1953.

After that he knocked out Johnny Cunningham in four, fought two successive draws with Pierre Langlois and Italo Scorticini, then won 12 in a row.

He stopped Tony DeMarco in a 12-round 12 rounds to capture the crown at Syracuse last June 10, then defeated Scorticini and Gil Turner before again knocking DeMarco in a title defense Nov. 30 at Boston.

That was Basilio's last start. He's boxed more than 120 rounds in preparing for 25-year-old Saxton.

Saxton and Carmen never have fought before. The powerfully-built Brooklyn batter will be the welterweight champion from Gavilan in Philadelphia on Oct. 20, 1954. He lost it to DeMarco April 1, 1955.

WHS Athletes Get Set For Track and Baseball

Now that they have already claimed the SCO League crowns—in football and basketball—the athletes of Washington C. H. High School today are drawing a bead on two more league titles.

Monday afternoon after school, both the track and baseball squads will start working easily to get kinks out of muscles.

Baseball hopefuls are scheduled to start tossing the ball around in the WHS gym to loosen up muscles unused since the end of baseball season early last summer.

And the trackmen are to work out in the gym, too, providing there is no break in the damp weather.

Baseball mentor will be Herb Russell, who just finished piloting

his cagers to a league championship. The track coaching duties will be split between Fred Domenico, head football coach, and Dick Filbin, who assisted Domenico on the grid chores.

Between them, Domenico and Filbin led the WHS gridders from nowhere at the season's start to a league championship at it end.

THE ATHLETES won't be doing all the shifting of gears from one sport to another.

Wednesday evening, representatives of the league schools will meet in Circleville to iron out baseball and track schedules, put the basketball season to official rest until next winter and decide whether or not the league will sponsor official golf and tennis meets.

The status of golf and tennis at WHS is indefinite right now, according to Clyde Cramer, faculty athletics manager. If the league decides not to make the two sports official this year, there may be no formal teams here, he said.

The SCO dinner meeting will bring Washington C. H. its second title award of this school year. The last league meeting brought WHS the football title and a check to buy a trophy. The same procedure will be observed at this meeting—same check, same purpose, same school.

The allowance to buy a basketball trophy will be $20, Cramer said.

Meantime, as league officials planned schedules, the slap of baseballs into mitts and the grunts of winter-weary trackmen starting calisthenics proved it conclusively: spring is here!

Wheaton became a surprise element in the tournament when it was certified late Saturday to replace Delta State of Cleveland, Miss., which withdrew as Alabama-Mississippi representative because of racial tension.

Wheaton lost in the Illinois district playoff by one point to Western Illinois and was promptly given the third place rating.

Small College Cage Tourney Gets Start

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The 18th national intercollegiate (NAIA) basketball tournament, a dizzy scramble by 32 of the country's best small college teams, opened today with its field packed with outstanding entries.

Coe College (20-4) of Cedar Rapids, Ia., and Stephen F. Austin (21-5) of Nacogdoches, Tex. started the six-day marathon.

Eight games, four afternoon and four night, are scheduled through Wednesday. The championship will be decided Saturday.

Top seeded and with exactly the same players that carried it to third place in the tournament last year is Western Illinois of Macomb. The Illinois team, featuring Lupe Rios, comes up to the meet with a 26-2 record.

Among the other more highly regarded teams and the order of their seeding are Geneva, Beaver Falls, Pa. (23-2); Wheaton (Ill.) (26-3), and McNeese, Lake Charles, La. (38-2).

Wheaton became a surprise element in the tournament when it was certified late Saturday to replace Delta State of Cleveland, Miss., which withdrew as Alabama-Mississippi representative because of racial tension.

NCAA Basketball Tournament Scheduled To Start Tonight

(By The Associated Press)

College basketball gets around to the beginning of the end this week with the NCAA championship tournament breaking away fast tonight in New York, Fort Wayne, Ind., and Seattle, Wash.

The NCAA starts paring its sprawling 25-team field in regional eliminations tonight.

At Madison Square Garden in New York, it's Temple (23-3) vs. Holy Cross (22-4) and North Carolina State (24-3) vs. Canisius (17-6).

Tuesday night, another Garden twin bill matches Connecticut (16-9) vs. Manhattan (16-7) and Dartmouth (16-10) vs. West Virginia (21-8).

The four winners travel to Philadelphia for a two-night set this weekend.

At Fort Wayne's Coliseum tonight, DePaul (13-7) meets Wayne (Mich.) (17-1) and Marshall (18-4) plays Morehead (Ky.) State (17-9). This weekend, the DePaul-Wayne winner will meet Kentucky (19-5) and the Marshall-Morehead winner will test Iowa (17-5) at Iowa City, Iowa. The final survivor moves on to Evanston, Ill., March 22, to meet the Philadelphia winner for the Eastern title.

At Seattle tonight, Idaho State (17-6) and Seattle (16-8) present their annual act in the first of the Western regionals. The winner meets Utah (22-5) Friday at Corvallis, Ore., with San Francisco (25-0), the defending champion with a major college mark of 51 straight successes, meeting UCLA (21-5) in the other half of the double-header.

In the other section of the Western first round, Tuesday at Wichita, Kan., Memphis State (20-6) faces Oklahoma City (18-6) and

Santee Awaiting Cleveland Test

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Miler Wes Santee, facing trial Thursday in his battle against professionalism charges by the Amateur Athletic Union, plans to run next Saturday in Cleveland's Knights of Columbus Games.

"My plans are to run in Cleveland, no matter how my trial comes out," the former Kansas State star declared Saturday night after winning his section of the Journal feature mile in 4:10.5.

The 24-year-old Marine lieutenant is under a lifetime suspension by the AAU, which ruled he accepted excessive expense money in meets last year. He blocked enforcement of the suspension by securing an injunction that was twice upheld against the AAU.

Rainfall Delays Pensacola Open

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — The touring golf professionals try again today to wind up the rain-disrupted Pensacola Open.

Officials were forced to postpone the final round of the 72-hole medal play tournament yesterday after a 2.24-inch morning rain inundated the Pensacola County Club.

Many of the pros packed up and headed for St. Petersburg, Fla., where the next open tournament begins Thursday. But the low scorers, headed by Don Fairfield, stayed over for a crack at the $12,500 in prizes.

During his college days in the early 1920's, Wyoming Gov. Milward L. Simpson captained the University of Wyoming football, basketball and baseball teams.

Big Bill Uhl Voted As Top Ohio College Cage Player

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Big Bill Uhl, Dayton's seven-foot center, today out-voted everyone in the state as coaches and sports writers picked the 1955-56 All-Ohio college basketball team for The Associated Press.

The 245-pound Uhl, senior from Greenfield, thus won the captaincy of the honorary squad which included nine players from Ohio's independent colleges and six from the Mid-American and Ohio Conferences.

With Uhl on the first team were Jim Paxson, his teammate from Springfield; Phil Wheeler, Cincinnati Bearcat high scorer; Jim Ray of Toledo, the No. 1 point-getter in the Mid-American, and Jim Boothe of Xavier, the only junior o. the team, who is only 5-7 tall and weighs 144.

All the others are over six feet, giving the squad an average height of about 6-4 although Boothe is almost a foot under that figure.

The first team, against some of the country's best opposition, averaged about 95 points per game with Ray at 25.5, Wheeler 21.1, Boothe and Uhl just over 16, and Paxson—Dayton's play-maker and sparkplug—at 15.

Only Ohio State, of the 40 Buckeye colleges, was not considered in the all-state selections. Here are the all-stars:

First team: Jim Paxson, Dayton, Phil Wheeler, Cincinnati, Bill Uhl, Dayton, Jim Boothe, Xavier, and Jim Ray, Toledo.

Second team: Paul Brownlee, Steubenville, Mike Harkins, Akron, Dave Pointek, Xavier, Tony Knott, Youngs-

Suggs Captures Augusta Laurels

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Little Louise Suggs earned her third Titleholders crown the hard way, by whipping 44 of the nation's best women golfers.

The Sea Island, Ga., professional pocketed $900 yesterday after edging 38-year-old Patty Berg, the defending champion from St. Andrews, Ill., by one stroke in the 72-hole tournament. Miss Berg collected $675.

Each covered the final 18 holes on the hilly 6,270-yard Augusta Country Club course in 74 strokes, 1 under women's par. Miss Suggs had a 78-75-75-74—302 card. Miss Berg shot a 79-77-73-74—303.

Eddie Joe Buck, a catcher getting a trial with the Boston Red Sox this spring, holds a degree in agricultural economics from Oklahoma A & M.

During his college days in the early 1920's, Wyoming Gov. Milward L. Simpson captained the University of Wyoming football, basketball and baseball teams.

'One Way Street' Means 'Down'

WATERBURY, Conn. (AP)—Norman A. Lezotte, 28, was going to cross the Washington Avenue bridge when he came to it Sunday, but the bridge wasn't there and he and his car plunged 20 feet into the water.

After he climbed out of his wrecked car with cuts and bruises, he learned the bridge was washed out in the August floods.

Lezotte told police he saw no signs warning of the washout.

Police agreed there weren't any signs warning of a washout but added there was one which said: "One Way—Do Not Enter."

Widely Spaced Footprints Found

DALLAS (AP)—Glen Robert James rigged up a shotgun linked to the back door of his shoe shop and loaded the gun with blanks.

Sunday he found the door open, the gun discharged and widely spaced footprints heading away from the shop. Nothing was missing but the would-be burglar.

'One Way Street' Means 'Down'

WATERBURY, Conn. (AP)—Norman A. Lezotte, 28, was going to cross the Washington Avenue bridge when he came to it Sunday, but the bridge wasn't there and he and his car plunged 20 feet into the water.

After he climbed out of his wrecked car with cuts and bruises, he learned the bridge was washed out in the August floods.

Lezotte told police he saw no signs warning of the washout. Police agreed there weren't any signs warning of a washout but added there was one which said: "One Way—Do Not Enter."

Widely Spaced Footprints Found

DALLAS (AP)—Glen Robert James rigged up a shotgun linked to the back door of his shoe shop and loaded the gun with blanks.

Sunday he found the door open, the gun discharged and widely spaced footprints heading away from the shop. Nothing was missing but the would-be burglar.

New Hampshire Voters Ready For Primaries

Interest Now Centered In Dem Race Between Kefauver, Stevenson

MANCHESTER, N. H. (AP)—Sen Kefauver (D-Tenn) swept through New Hampshire today in a final bid for a convincing prestige victory in the nation's first presidential primary election.

The state votes tomorrow, naming delegates to the national conventions of both parties.

This was the election, in 1952 that produced two startling results. New Hampshire voters started Dwight D. Eisenhower on the road to the White House with a decisive victory over other Republican entrants in the primary. And they expressed an undeniable preference for Kefauver over President Truman.

This year, however, President Eisenhower is virtually unopposed on the GOP side of the ballot.

Principal interest centers on the struggle between Kefauver, who hopes to repeat his triumph of four years ago, and the admirers of Adlai E. Stevenson.

Stevenson's backers have put him in the race by proxy.

BY CONTRAST, Kefauver has been over the state three times, touring, making speeches, shaking hands, working hard. Stevenson has not been here and has taken no part in the campaign.

Stevenson's lieutenants tell you frankly that their aim is to kill off Kefauver's drive in this opening skirmish of the campaign for the Democratic nomination. They will claim a victory if only a few of the 12 Stevenson delegate-candidates are elected.

Kefauver has said he would be satisfied to win "more than half" the delegates.

Stevenson's supporters issued a statement yesterday that Kefauver is "receiving money from the governor of a large state."

The statement came from David Wilkes, publicity chairman of the New Hampshire Stevenson organization. Wilkes declined to identify the governor.

Kefauver retorted: "Ridiculous. We've received mighty little money from anybody and no governor has given or offered us any contribution. I wish they would."

Eisenhower and Kefauver are both unopposed on the printed Presidential preference ballot.

Both, however, are opposed on the delegate election phase of the primary.

Stevenson is represented by a full slate of delegate candidates. Single candidates are running as favorable to Gov. Averell Harriman of New York and Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan.

In opposition to Eisenhower candidates, seven are running as favorable to Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.)

Rev. William Pelley of Washington, C. H. has completed a tour with the Men's Choir of United Theological Seminary of Dayton. Rev. Pelley is in his second year at United Seminary, which is a graduate school of Theology of the Evangelical United Brethren Church. He is a graduate of Hollywood High School with the class of 1947 and is a graduate of Earlham College in Richmond, Ind.

On his spring tour through Ohio and Indiana the 42 voice choir gave concerts in Cleveland, Columbus, Akron, Toledo, Indianapolis and other cities.

The choir, under the direction of Harlan Snow, is currently engaged in preparation for a tour in France, Switzerland, Germany, Netherlands and Great Britain during June and July of this year.

Judge Case Leads MYF Panel Here

The success or failure of any government, whether of a village or of a nation, depends greatly on the citizenship of the individual.

That was the conclusion offered by a panel which discussed "Christianity and Citizenship in Our Community" at Sunday night's meeting of the Grace Methodist Church Youth Fellowship.

Leading the panel discussion was Common Pleas Judge John P. Case, also the speaker at the session. MYF members served on the panel.

Kay Minshall and Bob Montgomery led the devotions and Bob Crouse, MYF president, led the MYF benediction.

Ex-Fireman Emil Wilson Dies Suddenly

Emil W. Wilson, 63, who was known to nearly everyone hereabouts as "Rusty," died suddenly of a heart attack in the back yard of his home, 221 West Market Street, at 5:50 P. M. Saturday.

Emil (Rusty) Wilson

A native of Leesburg, he came to Washington, C. H. as a young man and shortly after he returned to civilian life after serving through the first World War, he joined the Washington C. H. Fire Department in which he served for 29 years until he retired Jan. 15, 1950, because of his health.

During those 29 years, he had hand in fighting every one of the major fires in the city and many in the community and nearby towns. His experiences could fill a book with interesting and thrilling chapters.

He suffered his first heart attack a short time before he retired.

Ohio River Crests Below Flood Stage

CINCINNATI (AP)—Expected crests along the Ohio River from Huntington, W. Va., to Cincinnati today are one-half to three feet below flood stage.

The U. S. Weather Bureau reported a "very light" rain fell in the river valley yesterday but said it will not raise the river level. No more rain is expected to fall in the region before tomorrow.

The state highway patrol reported five secondary roads in Monroe, Athens and Meigs counties closed due to high water.

Weekend Accidents Kill 15 In Ohio

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio's weekend fatality toll was marked by several miscellaneous accidents and the usual number of highway deaths.

An Associated Press survey from 6 p. m. Friday to last midnight showed at least 10 persons were killed on the state's roads. Two other persons fell to their death, two died in fires and one drowned.

Students Rank High in Music

Competition Finals To Bring 1500 Here

Three Washington C. H. High School student musicians ran up top-notch ratings Saturday at a district music contest held at Wilmington College.

Janis Gillen and Donn Crissinger both received "superior" ratings for their musical performances. John Rhoads, third representative from here, received a rating of "excellent."

Janis, 16, a junior, played a piano solo in the music contest. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Gillen of 230 Delaware Street.

Donn, 17, a senior, competed with a Sousaphone solo. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norris Crissinger of 1013 Washington Avenue.

John, 14, played a solo on a baritone horn. A sophomore, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Rhoad of the Leesburg Road.

Janis and Donn are now eligible to take part in the state finals, to be held at the high school here April 14.

WHS WILL be one of three high schools in Ohio to play host to student musicians in the state-wide finals. William B. Clift, head of the WHS music department, expects from 1,200 to 1,500 students here for the all-day competition, he said.

The three district contestants from here were among 500 young musicians from 40 to 50 high schools taking part in the district competition at Wilmington. Judges were from University of Dayton, Ohio State University, Miami University and Otterbein College.

Clift, who was judging another district contest in Urbana on Saturday, explained that the musicians are judged on general musical excellence as well as on a competitive basis.

With that basis for judging there is not necessarily one winner in a particular class; a number of competitors might receive the same rating. The same basis for judging would hold true in the finals, Clift said.

He added that students compete in classes according to the size of high school attended.

Besides making preparations for the state finals here, Clift will be helping in the judging at district contests in Newark, Dayton and Columbus.

The three students from here were accompanied on their trip to the district meeting in Wilmington by Robert Neumann, junior high school music instructor here.

Dixie Whites Said Negro's 'Best Friend'

CLEVELAND (AP)—"The finest friend a Negro has in the world," says a Negro minister indicted for boycotting buses in Montgomery, Ala., "is the Southern white man."

However, the Rev. L. Roy Bennett, president of a Negro ministerial alliance in Montgomery, added that a "substrata" element is fighting for survival and causing confusion.

Rev. Mr. Bennett addressed a rally here yesterday where $3,274.18 was collected to aid Montgomery Negroes in their legal battles.

"All we want is a dime's worth of ride for 10 cents," he said, adding that "we're going to fight until we can sit down where we darn please."

Meanwhile, in New York, Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-NY) says the Negro boycott of buses in Montgomery may spread to other cities.

The Negro congressmen said yesterday he would send a telegram to the Chicago owner of the Montgomery line telling him the boycott may hit his buses in other cities.

Powell said the Montgomery line, boycotted by Negroes since Dec. 5 in a protest over segregated seats, is one of 40 owned by National City Lines, Inc., Chicago. Three of the 40 lines are in the North.

Powell said he would ask the National Bus Lines President, E. Roy Fitzgerald, "to reexamine the Montgomery situation or face the possibility of people walking in other cities as well."

School textbooks to carry one pupil from start of school through high school would fill an 18-foot shelf.

2-Month Report By Red Cross

Two Major Fields Of Service Covered

A break-down of two phases of the service rendered by the Red Cross in Fayette County during the first two months of this year has been prepared for the board of directors by Mrs. Leonard Korn, the secretary.

These two major services have to do with the help the Red Cross gives to personnel in the armed services and their families and with the blood program.

During January 31, telegrams were sent and 75 telephone calls made to help men and women in the service and their families. During February, 29 telegrams were sent and 60 telephone calls were made for similar purposes.

Involved in the January service were 46 individuals and in the February service 43.

Mrs. Korn related one story about Red Cross service as she prepared her report. Briefly it was this: A man in the service was home on furlough when he became ill and his physician advised him to report to a government hospital. His mother telephoned his base, but by the time she managed to get through the "channels" and red tape, she had spent just about all the money she could spare.

Mrs. Korn's postscript to that story was that the Red Cross would have taken care of all the details—including the telephone calls and bill—had the mother or the soldier got in touch with her.

THIS STORY was used to point up two things: (1) That service personnel and their families should get in touch with the Red Cross when they have a problem and (2) the Red Cross is accepted by the armed forces as a sort of official liaison between the civilian and military.

Although Fayette Countians have gone over their quota of 150 pints each of the last two times the Red Cross mobile unit was here to take donations, they also are using more blood from the Red Cross blood bank they are putting in, the reports for the first two months of the year show.

The bloodmobile comes on an average of four times a year—every three months.

During January 85 pints of blood were used by Fayette Countians and during February 89 pints were used. Thus, 174 pints have been

New Hampshire Voters Ready For Primaries

Interest Now Centered In Dem Race Between Kefauver, Stevenson

MANCHESTER, N. H. (AP)—Sen Kefauver (D-Tenn) swept through New Hampshire today in a final bid for a convincing prestige victory in the nation's first presidential primary election.

The state votes tomorrow, naming delegates to the national conventions of both parties.

This was the election, in 1952 that produced two startling results. New Hampshire voters started Dwight D. Eisenhower on the road to the White House with a decisive victory over other Republican entrants in the primary. And they expressed an undeniable preference for Kefauver over President Truman.

This year, however, President Eisenhower is virtually unopposed on the GOP side of the ballot.

Principal interest centers on the struggle between Kefauver, who hopes to repeat his triumph of four years ago, and the admirers of Adlai E. Stevenson.

Stevenson's backers have put him in the race by proxy.

BY CONTRAST, Kefauver has been over the state three times, touring, making speeches, shaking hands, working hard. Stevenson has not been here and has taken no part in the campaign.

Stevenson's lieutenants tell you frankly that their aim is to kill off Kefauver's drive in this opening skirmish of the campaign for the Democratic nomination. They will claim a victory if only a few of the 12 Stevenson delegate-candidates are elected.

Kefauver has said he would be satisfied to win "more than half" the delegates.

Stevenson's supporters issued a statement yesterday that Kefauver is "receiving money from the governor of a large state."

The statement came from David Wilkes, publicity chairman of the New Hampshire Stevenson organization. Wilkes declined to identify the governor.

Kefauver retorted: "Ridiculous. We've received mighty little money from anybody and no governor has given or offered us any contribution. I wish they would."

Eisenhower and Kefauver are both unopposed on the printed Presidential preference ballot. Both, however, are opposed on the delegate election phase of the primary.

Stevenson is represented by a full slate of delegate candidates. Single candidates are running as favorable to Gov. Averell Harriman of New York and Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan.

In opposition to Eisenhower candidates, seven are running as favorable to Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.)

Judge Case Leads MYF Panel Here

The success or failure of any government, whether of a village or of a nation, depends greatly on the citizenship of the individual.

That was the conclusion offered by a panel which discussed "Christianity and Citizenship in Our Community" at Sunday night's meeting of the Grace Methodist Church Youth Fellowship.

Leading the panel discussion was Common Pleas Judge John P. Case, also the speaker at the session. MYF members served on the panel.

Kay Minshall and Bob Montgomery led the devotions and Bob Crouse, MYF president, led the MYF benediction.
